A WORTHY CANDIDATE.

The loyal voters of the Commonwealth ask no higher tribute to the worth and character of Judge Williams than the following neat compliment paid him by the only daily Democratic paper of Western Pennsylvania the day following his nomination. It said:

The nomination of the Hon. Henry W. Williams as a candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court is a good one. He was the best man named before the Republican Convention, and possesses legal and moral qualifications for the responsible position to which he has been nominated. Both parties have now presented their candidates. An important duty has been faithfully discharged by the respective conventions. The campaign may now be conducted without personal asperions, and decided upon the principles of the two great parties. This is as it should be. It is an auspicious sign of the times, and if the county conventions are equally fortunate in the selection of legislative candidates, there will be a stop put to the deplorable corruption at the seat of government under a new reign of honest men and conscientious legislators.—Pittsburgh Post, June 28th, 1867.

The Post, in referring to the above, on the 29th of August, was pleased to say:

"We have nothing to take back or modify. Of Judge Williams' private or legal reputation we have nothing but words of praise, and however it may suit some pugnacious and heady politicians, we cannot bring ourselves to view personal assaults as either wise or politic."

JAMESTOWN AND FRANKLIN RAILROAD.

Returning from the Venango Oil District a short time since we were advised at Franklin to come via the Jamestown Railroad, recently opened for trade and travel. We were assured that the Road was better as well as shorter than the one via Meadville, and determined to act on the advice. Passing from Franklin to Jamestown, where the road connects with the Erie & Pittsburgh, we found the coaches all that could be desired, and the road well ballasted, substantially built, and with light grades and curvature—altogether one of the best roads in the State. Travelers hence to Franklin, Oil City, Tidioute, Titusville, Irvington, Warren, &c., by going this route will find the distance materially abbreviated, and the accommodations, whether at the stations or on the trains, fully equal to the old route by the valley of French Creek. We were delighted, also, with the picturesque and diversified wayside scenery—especially with the Sandy Creek Valley and Sandy Lake. This Lake is the beauty spot of the route, and is a charming sheet of water, with an area of about a square mile, or two miles long by half a mile wide. Its crystal waters are of great depth, and abound with fish. On the margin of this lake there has sprung up within a year or two the lively little village of "Stoneborough," the germ of a future city, and destined, we think, to become a favorite resort for thousands of seekers after health or pleasure. Already this village boasts of a fine hotel, so well kept and so largely patronized that an extensive new wing is being added to it. This hotel has recently been purchased by Colonel James Bleakly, of Franklin, a gentleman of ample means, who will doubtless still further enlarge it, and build another, when the attractions of this beautiful spot shall cause, as we foresee they will, Stoneborough to become generally and favorably known. Elsewhere in this day's issue we print a communication signed "G. F.," written by a merchant of this city, who has for some time past been revelling in the charms of this charming retreat, from the smoke and dust of the city.

We commend our readers to the route as eligible, safe and short, and the best between Pittsburgh and Franklin. We suggest to the management that it is due to themselves and the public that their train time and connections should, like those of the other roads connected with the commerce and travel of Pittsburgh, be advertised in her papers.

NAPOLEON thinks that French honor has not been tarnished or its prestige impaired in the Mexican difficulties. He has a peculiar way of his own in thinking, but it is a hard matter for him to make the outside world believe that he sincerely felt what he uttered. He is hopeful for the continued peace of Europe, and imagines that the German question is settled and that no trouble will come from that quarter.

MADAME RISTORI was not appreciated in Paris. She drew poor houses and created but little of the enthusiasm which marked her appearance here. She has again left Europe for America, bringing with her a full dramatic company. How many thousand dollars in gold she will realize this season out of the pockets of our drama admirers remains to be seen.

THE United States Government wants to buy the Island of St. Thomas, and the journals of Denmark urge its sale on the authorities. Uncle Sam seems to have suddenly grown extravagant, and is out shopping, picking up all the loose land of christendom. We hope he drives good bargains.

THE yellow fever is still raging as an epidemic in Galveston, Texas, and at Corpus Christi. The condition of affairs at the latter place is very deplorable. One half the citizens have already died, or are sick, and great distress prevails. Help from the humane is called for.

WE do not place much reliance in the rumor which reaches us to the effect that the negroes of Texas have quit work, armed themselves, and gone into camp avowing that they will take the law into their own hands.

Suggestion for a Convention of Loyal Governors—Indian Affairs.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, August 31.—The Democrat, this morning, suggests, in view of the condition of affairs in Washington, that the Governors of loyal States meet together at an early day and consult in regard to the situation. It also suggests a similar consultation on the part of the managers of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Western dispatches say the Apaches and Navajo Indians have committed numerous outrages in New Mexico. Two hunters had been killed in the San Mantia mountains, and four were missing. Two Indians drove off thirteen thousand head of sheep, and the citizens pursued and recaptured all save fifteen hundred. The Indians continue troublesome at the Sweetwater mines and on the Utah. Sixteen had been killed by a party of miners on the 4th. Nevada papers complain bitterly of Indian depredations in the country west of Olive Creek, in Colorado. The Sweetwater mines are said to contain the most extensive quartz in the world.

Dry Goods House Failure.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BOSTON, August 31.—The failure of Silas S. Drew & Co., dry goods dealers, with liabilities amounting to a quarter of a million of dollars, creates quite a sensation in business circles. One New York firm is said to suffer to the amount of $100,000. The assets are estimated at about the latter sum.

Yellow Fever Progress at Galveston.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GALVESTON, August 31.—There were two hundred and forty-one deaths from yellow fever this week; also one hundred deaths at Corpus Christi up to the 16th instant. About one-half of the citizens are sick or dead, and much distress prevails, and help is needed.

THE PRIZE FIGHT.

Between Aaron Jones and Mike McCool.

McCOOL THE WINNER IN THE THIRTY-FOURTH ROUND.

Jones Knocked Out of Time.

M'COOL CHALLENGED BY ELLIOTT.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, August 31.—The great prize fight, between Aaron Jones and Michael McCoole, took place at Burnbank's farm, thirty miles from Cincinnati. At the thirty-fourth round McCoole knocked Jones completely out of time, and won the fight. A large crowd witnessed the fight, and the excitement ran high. The trains from the ground returned this afternoon about three o'clock, bringing McCoole, who, on the way down, passed through the train and raised a subscription for Jones, heading the list with fifty dollars. He is apparently uninjured, having but a slight cut above his left eye. Jones was unconscious for ten minutes after the fight was over. He has two ribs broken and the frontal bone crushed in. He was conveyed to Hamilton in a carriage, where he now remains. McCoole forced the fighting all along, Jones apparently acted on the defensive.

Aaron Jones, loser of the fight, was to-night conveyed to his place of training at Shady Grove, four miles from this city. The medical examiners say that two of his ribs have sustained compound fractures from the terrific blows received at the hands of M'Coole in the twenty-ninth round. The blow which finished the fight, received on the forehead, produced concussion of the brain and vomiting. A slight congestion of the lungs also ensued. His condition is not regarded as extremely critical, but will require care and good nursing for recovery.

Jim Elliott, ex-champion, arrived in the city to-night, and met McCoole, challenging the latter for a fight for any sum from $1,000 to $10,000. Some braggadocia ensued at the meeting, and McCoole agreed to give a definite answer to-morrow. McCoole's left eye is wholly closed from the fight. His forehead is badly cut, and cheeks swelled, but he expressed himself as feeling well and in condition to fight again to-morrow. He gave a supper to his friends to-night.

Jones Not so Badly Injured as Supposed.

CINCINNATI, September 1.—Aaron Jones, the loser of the fight yesterday with McCoole, is now at his training place at Shady Grove near this city. With the exception of two broken ribs, he is in good condition. The cut he received in the face was only a flesh wound, and will heal rapidly. He is in good spirits, and in speaking of the fight attributes his defeat to the accident that fractured his ribs on the twenty-ninth round. Up to that time he was fresh and in good wind. After that he fought five rounds with broken ribs, and would have continued had not the broken ribs entered his lung and rendered him completely insensible. Had it not been for this injury, his seconds believe that he could have fought for an hour and a half longer. McCoole is still in this city. He has not yet accepted Jim Elliott's challenge.

WASHINGTON, August 31, 1867.

AMNESTY PROCLAMATION.

The New York World's special says: There is reason to believe that in a few days the President will issue an important proclamation of amnesty, supplemental to that issued on the 29th of May, 1865. He may not proclaim universal amnesty, but will enlarge the fourteen classes named in that proclamation. Among the classes excepted by the latter, but which I am assured will be included in the coming proclamation, will be all persons who shall have been military or naval officers of the pretended Confederate Government, who are below the rank of Brigadier General in the army or Captain in the navy. Also, all persons who are, or have been, pretended civil or diplomatic officers, or otherwise, domestic or foreign agents of the rebel government. Also, who have been engaged in any way in treating, otherwise than lawfully as prisoners of war, persons in the United States service as officers, soldiers, seamen, or in other capacities. Other details are yet to be arranged which may delay the issuance of the proclamation for at least a week, but it is probable that it will be decided to pardon all persons except high officials, who may be on bail for trial, before or after conviction.

THE REMOVAL OF GEN. SICKLES—THE CAUSE THEREOF.

The Cabinet to-day had before them a complete record of the proceedings between General Grant and General Sickles, relative to the latter's course in North Carolina, in interfering with the process issuing from a United States Court, and which eventually led to Sickles' prompt removal by the President. This record it was decided to publish. The correspondence, however, of General Grant, which is spicy and interesting, will not be made public at the same time, though it was read at to-day's Cabinet meeting. It appears from this that when General Sickles' military officers proscribed the execution of a civil process from the United States Court, the United States District Attorney reported the fact to the Attorney General, and General Grant was informed of it. Believing at that time that he had the power to annul or modify the orders from military commanders, General Grant telegraphed to General Sickles to modify his order under which his subordinates obstructed the United States Court, so as to obviate said obstruction in the future.

General Sickles replied to Grant, asking that the latter's order might be held in abeyance until he could explain by mail. When this explanation arrived it appeared to be a plausible statement, showing that Order No. 10 protected the people from summary execution for debt, and that it gave great satisfaction to the States of North and South Carolina. Gen. Grant thereupon telegraphs Sickles the important fact that he withdraws his order to him to modify Order No. 10, thus leaving the latter in force.

At this remarkable state of affairs, the United States Marshal of North Carolina steps in and again attempts to serve the civil process, but is resisted by Sickles, by virtue of the continuance in full effect of his order. These facts were reported here, when the Executive directed the United States District Attorney to procure an indictment against one Daniel E. Sickles for a violation of the criminal laws of the United States, in obstructing a United States Court.

General Sickles hearing of this action, telegraphed to General Grant in a spirit of fierce denunciation of the step, declaring that he, as commander of a military district, created by act of Congress, was not amenable to any Grand Jury or United States Marshal, or United States District Attorney, and intimated that he would answer no indictment founded on that charge. It does not appear that Gen. Grant answered this, but it does that the President of the United States gave an order last Monday which removed Sickles, and thus vindicated the Judiciary of the Government and secured the execution of a process issued by the highest tribunal of the land. The full correspondence, of which the above is an abstract, will probably be made public in due time.

IMPORTANT ORDER FROM GEN. GRANT.

Gen. Grant has issued the following important order:

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY,
Adjutant General's Office,
WASHINGTON, August 30, 1867.

Special Order No. 429.

Commanders of the Military Districts created under the act of March 2, 1867, will make no appointments to civil office of persons who have been removed by themselves or their predecessors in command.

By command of Gen. GRANT,
E. D. TOWNSEND, A. A. G.

REVENUE RECEIPTS.

Internal Revenue receipts for the week, $3,675,523.

MILITARY BULLETIN.

Brevet Brigadier General Seth Eastman has been relieved of duty at Harrodsburg, Kentucky, and ordered to report to the Secretary of the Interior. Brevet Brigadier General C. H. Tompkins, Quartermaster's Department, has been assigned as Chief Quartermaster of the Fifth Military District. Captain Charles Johnson, 17th Iowa Volunteers, has been mustered out of service.

TREASURY MATTERS.

Assistant Secretary of Treasury Chandler has returned to the city. Four clerks of the higher grades in the Internal Revenue Office, who were discharged to-day, have been appointed first class clerks. It is contemplated to make further changes of the same character in the Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON, September 1, 1867.

OVERLAND MAIL DELINQUENCIES.

The Postoffice Department has directed inquiry to be made respecting the reported carelessness and abuse of mail matter by the overland mail contractor. In the course of a few days Special Mail Agent Clampitt will start from Washington for the Plains with a view to correct the reported delinquencies. The contractor, however, denies the allegations and promises to furnish affidavits exonerating him from censure.

GEN. GRANT AND THE PRESIDENT.

The Order of Gen. Grant prohibiting the re-appointment by Military District Commanders to civil office of persons removed by themselves or predecessors, is considered merely a notice in advance that he would disapprove such appointments under that clause of the Reconstruction Act giving to the General of the army the same power of removals and appointments as commanders of military districts, and does not make a new issue between him and the President. There is good authority for asserting that the rumors of difficulties having occurred on this subject are groundless. Gen. Grant gave yesterday evening a parting dinner to Senor Romero, the Mexican Minister.

Health of Memphis.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, August 31.—Better health exists at Memphis, and only twenty-three deaths from all diseases are reported for the week ending at noon to-day. None from cholera. The first bale of new cotton was brought in to-day. It classed as low middling, and sold at forty cents.

FROM EUROPE.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

FRANCE.

STILL ANOTHER SPEECH FROM NAPOLEON.

PARIS, August 31.—Late in the day yesterday Napoleon arrived at Amiens, where he made a few remarks. He considered the enthusiastic receptions which had been everywhere extended to him throughout the country attested the patriotism of the people and confidence in the Government. Alluding briefly to the Mexican question, he did not think French honor had been tarnished or prestige impaired. Late events in Germany had left France tranquil and she would remain so. He was certain the peace of Europe would not be disturbed. In conclusion he expressed a desire for the establishment of more liberal institutions and wider and more active trade, which he assured his enthusiastic listeners he would do his utmost to provide.

PRIZE POEM ON THE DEATH OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

The French Academy awarded the prize of poetry to M. Grenier. The subject of the poem which won the prize is "The Death of Abraham Lincoln."

NOTE TO REPRESENTATIVES—THE SALZBURG MEETING.

PARIS, September 1.—Baron Moustier, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has addressed a circular dispatch to the Diplomatic Representatives of France at European Courts in regard to the existing relations of the Government with other Continental Powers. Alluding to recent events, and particularly to the conference held at Salzburg, M. Moustier declares that this auspicious meeting between the Emperors of France and Austria should be regarded as a fresh pledge for the maintenance of peace in Europe.

RUSSIA.

THE VISIT OF ADMIRAL FARRAGUT.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 1.—The visit of Admiral Farragut to St. Petersburg, which has been a series of ovations for the distinguished American, has terminated. The United States squadron, headed by the flagship Franklin, with Farragut on board, sailed from Cronstadt to-day. As the fleet passed out of the harbor salutes were fired from the fortifications and returned by the Franklin and other American vessels.

THE HOLY LAND EXCURSIONISTS IN THE CRIMEA.

The American steamer Quaker City has arrived at the Crimea. On Tuesday last the excursionists were received by the Emperor and Empress of Russia, who are spending the summer in the Crimea, and were warmly welcomed to Russia by their Majesties.

ENGLAND.

BALTIMORE SCHOONER YACHT CAPSIZED.

LONDON, August 30.—The little schooner yacht John T. Ford, from Baltimore, was capsized on the 19th of August, when entering the English Channel, by a sudden squall. One person, name not ascertained, was saved.

Foreign News by Steamer.

NEW YORK, September 1.—The steamship Hansa, from Southampton on the 20th ult., arrived this morning.

The Prince and Princess of Wales had arrived at Darmstadt on a visit to Germany.

King George, of Greece, had arrived in England.

The harvest accounts were quite satisfactory.

The Emperor and Empress of France passed through Augsburg and Munich on their way to Salzburg. At the former place they were received with both favorable and unfavorable demonstrations. At Munich they were met by King Louis, of Bavaria, and were received with acclamations by the crowd.

The Times Paris correspondent says it is believed Moustier's term of office is drawing to a close. Should Drouyn De l'Huys replace him, it would be a most warlike indication. The same correspondent says there can be no doubt that warlike preparations are actually making in France, and the work is being hurried on with great speed, but the number of Chassepot rifles necessary for the supply of the whole army cannot be completed before next spring.

The meeting of Napoleon and the King of Prussia at Coblentz is denied.

The Prefect of Perpignan had left for Ceret, at the head of a body of Gens d'Arms to arrest fifty armed men marching towards the Spanish frontier.

Hungary will contribute 28½ per cent. of the amount required for the expenditure of the Austrian Empire. The Hungarian government confiscated nine thousand needle guns sent across the frontier from Berlin to Belgrade.

The King of Italy has given assent to the church property bill.

Accounts from Sicily are deplorable. The cholera rages at Palermo with violence. Reports of the last two days are: First day, 71 cases, 32 deaths; second day, 134 cases, 76 deaths.

Further liberal concessions by Austria to the Protestants are expected.

The insurrectionary government of Candia had notified the foreign consuls of its intention to issue letters of marque for the employment of privateers.

The Times' city article of August 19th says the increase of bullion in the European markets fails to produce the slightest effect on the consols, as there is no demand for discount at the bank and on change it is difficult to obtain one per cent for use in floating balances.

Napoleon has addressed a letter to the Minister of the Interior, urging internal improvement and increase of means of communication and transportation within the Empire.

LATEST.—Paris papers regard the situation of affairs in Spain as extremely serious. Ex-Minister Maday had been arrested and martial law had been proclaimed in Barcelona. A battalion of French troops left Perpignan for the Spanish frontier.

The King of Sweden had arrived at Berlin and exchanged visits with the King and Crown Prince of Prussia.

It is stated that the Bavarian Counsel Minister emphatically opposed the King of Bavaria's visit to Salzburg. Prince Hohlenhoe was decidedly hostile to the step as prejudicial to the interest of Germany.

The Empresses of Austria and France would pay a visit of condolence to the Arch Duchess Sophie, mother of Maximilian, at Ischl.

Baron Von Beust and Prince Metternich have received the order of the Golden Fleece.

The Dutch Minister at Yeddo had been shot at by a native, but escaped injury. The assassin had not been arrested.

GEN. POPE'S DISTRICT.

Election Ordered on the First of October—Conservative Meeting Addressed by Colored Men.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MONTGOMERY, ALA., August 31.—General Pope has issued an order for an election on the first of October, on the question of holding a Convention, and for the election of delegates to the same for forty election districts. Mobile, Montgomery and Dallas have five delegates each.

COLUMBUS, GA., August 31.—A large Conservative meeting was held to-day. Addresses were delivered by James Williams and Benjamin Holmes, colored, of Tennessee. Resolutions were passed demanding the enfranchisement of all whites and declaring the rights of negroes to hold office. Good order existed until the speech of A. R. Lamar, white, when he was interrupted by soldiers of the garrison. They were promptly arrested and placed in the guard house. There was a demonstration by the Radical blacks last night, to mob Williams and Holmes.

Suicide of a Pacific Railway Agent—Disappearance of Another—Cholera in Pottowattomie Reserve.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

KANSAS CITY, MO., August 31.—J. S. Kirby, late telegraph operator, and agent of the Union Pacific Railway at Topeka, Kansas, committed suicide at Americus. It is said he was a defaulter to the company to the amount of $5,000.

Mr. Jewett, son of Judge Jewett, of Ohio, agent of the railway company at Junction City, Kansas, is also said to have disappeared in a mysterious manner.

It is reported the cholera has broken out in St. Mary's Mission, in Pottowattomie Reserve, Kansas.

ANOTHER "OPINION" FOR THE PRESIDENT.

Justification for the Removal of General Sickles.

CONTUMACY AND CONTEMPT OF LAW HIS OFFENSE.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, September 1, 1867.

Acting Attorney General Brinckley, under date of August 24th, submitted to the President a very long opinion in regard to Gen. Sickles' interference with the execution of the judgment of the District Court of United States, Chief Justice Chase presiding, under his Order No. 10. After reciting at length the circumstances of such interference, quoting the paragraph of said order prohibiting the enforcement of judgments or decrees for payment of money on causes of action arising between the 19th of December, 1860, and the 15th of May, 1865, the Acting Attorney General argues that the judicial powers of the United States are vested anterior to the laws of Congress by the express provision of the Constitution. A similar grant of jurisdiction to General Sickles must have appeared ridiculous had such been inserted in his order. The Attorney General refers to the announcement of the Chief Justice that it was incompatible with the authority of the national judiciary to sit where a military authority existed, which could impede its process, and that it was solely in consequence of this fact, that no such military authority then existed, that he felt willing to hold that Court. He submits that case as one of those which lie within the provisions of the statute in force for the punishment of persons who obstruct the process of the United States, and simply the case of a high misdemeanor legally contemplated. The Attorney General then proceeds to argue at great length the supremacy of the Court and Constitution over military authority, and cites numerous authorities to support this position and to define the scope and extent of these powers, showing by them that whenever within the territories of the United States, irrespectively of persons and circumstances, a matter of controversy arises which is distinctly comprehended under any one of the clauses of the Constitution, and which is in such a position as to be susceptible of judicial action, it must go without adjudication, or else must be adjudicated by the Courts of the United States. This provision being organic, it is beyond legislative power, if that could be supposed ever to have made an attempt to refer the adjudication of any such case, against the consent of the parties, or in derogation of the power of the Judiciary, to executive power, or to any power or agency whatever. He argues that the action of the Judiciary would be wholly ineffectual, unless the result in a proper case was conclusive and binding upon the other branches of the government and the entire people of the country. Control over proceedings is a control over the Court, the Judge, and the parties. This would not be controlling, but abolishing a Court. He argues that Congress cannot abolish the judicial districts, and that its powers cannot go beyond modifying and changing from time to time, as their wisdom may seem expedient, the organization of the courts and the division of the country into judicial provinces; but having once vested judicial power, which, as we are instructed, Congress was bound to do, that body cannot have power to vacate a judicial tract. He then proceeds to show by citations from acts of Congress establishing and defining the Judicial District of North Carolina, its status by these acts, and the allotment of Judges by the Supreme Court under them. It is shown that whatever under the Constitution of the United States, either of authority or jurisdiction, attaches to District and Circuit Courts as they stand in the statute books, was intended to be and must be held of full force and virtue now as heretofore. If it be admitted that the Judicial power is intact in the District of North Carolina, though the subject matter of its authority is limited to category, it is certain upon those subject matters the Courts of the United States for that District are the supreme authority of the United States. He argues that the judgments of such a court, as of the rights of person and property, the Commanding General of a Military District is bound to protect and enforce. In this view, he says, the error of General Sickles reaches the full stature of a perversion of authority, which if persisted in must immediately acquire the character of the crime of levying war against the United States, an undertaking which would not for a single moment be imputed to the deliberate intention of an officer honorably distinguished for his gallantry in defence of the Constitution. In this, as in any other matter, there may have been a doubt as to jurisdiction, but it would insult the intelligence of the Commander of the Second Reconstruction District to inquire whether or not he supposed himself authorized by law to forbid the Supreme Court of the United States from hearing cases affecting the inhabitants of the States of North Carolina and South Carolina without his consent. We must take it for certain, that General Sickles could not, when issuing his order No. 10, have contemplated disputing the authority of the Supreme Bench. It is equally certain that if he had been disposed to ascertain his authority through an adjudication by a competent Court, a decision might have been procured.

The Attorney General then proceeds to show that General Sickles, in interfering with the District Court, was in effect interfering with the Judiciary, including the Supreme Court of the United States, as a whole. He then proceeds to examine the Reconstruction Acts, and an act relating to appeals and writs of error to the Supreme Court, to show that with the exception of supervision or interruption of regular sessions of the Courts by rebellion, &c., the judicial establishment was perfectly intact, as if there had been no rebellion, and no occasion for restorative legislation. He then quotes from the law providing punishment for persons resisting, obstructing or impeding any officer in serving or executing a process of the court, &c., and declares that these laws are still in force and that the President is bound to execute them, and if he could be supposed to be willing to suspend them he has not the power.

The Attorney General concludes his argument as follows: "All process of Federal Courts run in the name of the President of the United States, because the mandates of the Court call him to action, as they do to submission, and he must execute them as laws of the highest sanctity by the whole power of the nation, if necessary. Is your Excellency in a state of collision with the National Judiciary? If not, since the whole executive power is thus vested in you by the organic law, and can be divested by nothing but a change of the organic law during your incumbency, it must follow that the collision of authority which is the subject hereof, is the mere misdemeanor of a contumacious and unfaithful executive agent, who, having offended against the lawful power of the Judiciary, has rendered himself liable to prosecution according to law. But the great responsibility which appears to me to arise on such occasions, where the physical power of the offender is great, is this: That for the sole Executive to suffer the Judiciary to be overthrown in any case would be highly improper, and therefore I am solemnly impressed with the belief that unless the President promptly represses the contumacy disclosed to him, he will be exposed to the just imputation of a culpable insensibility to the co-ordinative dignity and paramount sanctity of the national department of justice. Contempt of law indulged speedily grasps at the heartstrings of public order. So teaches history."

Steamboat Snagged and Sunk—Volunteering in Montana—Indian Depredations.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, August 31.—A special to the Journal from Omaha, August 31st, says: The steamer Turner struck a snag at nine o'clock Thursday evening, about seven miles above Nebraska City, and sunk in a few minutes in twelve feet of water. No lives were lost. The cargo was but little damaged.

The Montana Post of the 17th says Gen. Terry, commander of the department, after investigating the action of the Executive of the Territory, in regard to the volunteer forces, gave his unqualified approval, and fully empowered Governor Smith to prosecute the campaign against the Indians. In consequence of this action re-enlistments and other preparations were being vigorously pushed for immediate service.

Reliable intelligence from the Plains, received yesterday, gives the following particulars of Indian operations: A party on the road to Fort Reno lost three men killed at Crazy Woman Fork. Two hundred head of stock were run off from Wells, Fargo & Co.'s train on the 16th inst., near Reno. Two individuals, belonging to a train of citizens, were killed on the same day that the fight at Fort Phil Kearney occurred. The escort to Hay's party, from Fort Smith, were attacked by a large party of Indians, who were gallantly repulsed with a heavy loss. Only one body was left on the field, the rest were carried off. Two men of the escort were killed.

ST. LOUIS, September 1.—A dispatch from Fort Hays, Kansas, dated August 30, says: "No news has yet been received from the force sent against the Indians, but a severe battle is believed to have taken place. All the savages in this section say they do not wish peace, and will kill the Commissioners if possible. They are driving all the buffalo toward their villages on the Republican river."

A telegram from General Augur's head quarters says the Indians attacked the Government train near Fort C. Smith on the 25th ult., and were repulsed with a loss of twenty killed. An officer and four men were killed on our side. All the hostile tribes around Fort Phil Kearney are under the leadership of Red Cloud and bent on war. Black Hawk, chief of the Utah Indians, favors peace.

A battle between the Ogallalla and Brute tribes, of the Sioux, occurred on the 27th, at Cedar Canon, thirty miles south of Julesburg, in which several savages were killed.

FROM NEW YORK.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, August 31, 1867.

MEXICAN DETECTIVES AFTER ROBBERS.

Several Mexican detectives are here in search of C. M. Medinich, and several others who are reported to have robbed the Mexican Liberal Government of $250,000 in gold at the time of the capture of Maximilian. He is said to have been in Maximilian's interest. A woman who accompanied him, sailed for Europe, and it is supposed with a portion of the money, will be intercepted there by the cable. Medinich and his confederates have thus far evaded the vigilance of the detectives, who, however, are confident they are yet in the city with much of the gold.

SAILED FOR CALIFORNIA.

General Rosseau and staff sailed per the Arizona, to-day, for California.

LOSS BY FIRE.

A fire at No. 27 Maiden Lane, this afternoon, destroyed the upper portion of the building occupied by Frederick J. Emerick, manufacturer of mathematical and philosophical instruments. Loss $30,000; insured.

WAR STEAMER ARRIVED.

The French war steamer Surcof arrived from Havana to-day.

ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF FRAUD.

David Dudley Field sailed for Europe to-day to attend the Social Science Congress, at Belfast, on the 18th of September.

MORTUARY REPORT.

The deaths in New York for the week were about five hundred and eighty. It is officially reported there is not a case of yellow fever in the city.

MOTION DENIED.

Judge Barnard, in the Superior Court, to-day denied the motion made at the instance of the Receiver of the insolvent First National Bank of Selma, Ala., for the vacation of the attachment upon certain deposits in the Ocean Bank here. The attachment had been issued by the owner of certain checks drawn by the Selma Bank three days after it refused the payment of a Government draft on deposit here. It is claimed the attachment is in derogation of the provisions of the act creating National banks, which provides for winding up insolvent concerns. The case has gone to the general term of Court on an appeal.

The Union Republican County Convention—Election of Delegates.

The Union Republican County Convention, to which delegates were elected on Saturday, will assemble at the Court House Tuesday at 10 a. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the State Senate and House of Representatives. A nomination on the Republican ticket being equal to an election in this district, the excitement usually runs higher than at the fall elections. There being but two candidates for the Senate, the contest has been an unusually warm one, but so far as we have learned has been conducted fairly, and we hope the proceedings in the Convention may be conducted in the same way. The candidates for the Senate are both men of ability, and the nomination of either of them will reflect credit on the district. The contest will be a close one.

The candidates for Assembly are quite numerous, stated to be between thirty and forty. Below is appended a list of delegates so far as could be ascertained:

PITTSBURGH.

First Ward—William B. Hunter and W. R. Boggs.

Second—Thomas W. Davis and James Vick.

Third—In this ward the election will be contested. Two polling places were opened, at one of which A. J. Kemp and W. J. White were declared elected, and at the other George Glass and Joseph Hastings were voted for.

Fourth—William Tomlinson and C. W. Robb.

Fifth—First Precinct, David Beck and George Caughey; Second Precinct, Richard Thompson and Thomas Harris.

Sixth—First Precinct, John Little and John Wallace; Second Precinct, Samuel McIlhenny and J. A. Butler.

Seventh—James M. McEwen and Charles Kehew.

Eighth—A. J. Moon and James Mawhinney.

Ninth—John Cochran and David McClellan.

Tenth—Jacob F. Slagle and John Brown.

ALLEGHENY.

First Ward—Charles Cutler and John Morrow.

Second Ward—John K. Brown and Joseph McDonald.

Third Ward—First Precinct—George Gerst and Casper Gang.

Fourth Ward—First Precinct—J. C. Patterson and John Morrison. Second Precinct—Dennis M. Mullen and Louis Moul.

Fifth Ward—Messrs. W. S. Caughey and S. R. Davis.

Sixth Ward—Thomas Barnes and J. C. Harper.

Seventh Ward—A. Arent and August Miller.

BOROUGHS.

McKeesport—J. McK. Snodgrass and A. C. Critchlow.

Braddock's Field—Isaac Mills and ———

Lawrenceville—First Precinct—Jacob Wainright and Wm. Hosack. Second Precinct—Charles North and A. D. Anderson.

Birmingham—First Precinct—William Graham and J. Gefge. Second Precinct—T. B. Atterbury and Fred Fogle.

East Birmingham—William Mittewswi and Alex McKee.

South Pittsburgh—J. H. Roberts and Henry Moorhead.

West Pittsburgh—J. V. Auth and Adam Weaver.

Mt. Washington—D. B. Furguson and Jacob Geib. [Mr. Bigham resides in this district. The delegates elected are for Mr. Errett, having beaten their opponents seventeen votes.]

Monongahela—Brokaw and John Kell.

Temperanceville—Thomas Hershberger and N. Ballentine.

Duquesne—William Krebbs and Edward Coates.

TOWNSHIPS.

Liberty—James Dilworth and Washinton Lowry.

Collins—First Precinct—R. W. Thomas and C. B. Bostwick. Second Precinct—David Holmes and Joseph Stanger.

Oakland—Wm. Harrison and Isaac Jones.

Lower St. Clair—Lewis Fritz and John Musser.

Robinson—John Anderson and Alexander Speer. [Mr. Errett resides in this district. The delegates elected will vote for him, having been chosen almost unanimously.]

Scott—Chris. Hope and J. Kennedy.

Pitt—J. M. Hunter and Jacob Glosser.

Wilkins—William Swisshelm and H. R. Chalfant.

Elizabeth—Frank Patterson and Henry Applegate.

Finley—C. McHenry and J. Campbell.

The Pittsburgh Female College

On Wednesday next the Pittsburgh Female College, an institution having few equals and no superiors in the Union, will reopen for the reception of pupils for the fall and winter term. We had the pleasure one day last week of looking through the commodious and well adapted college building, which is situated on Hancock street, in one of the most secluded and delightful neighborhoods of the city. From the exterior it is suggestive of the clever accommodations and facilities of the interior, being large, neat and ornamental. The various departments have been thoroughly renovated during vacation and now present an attractive appearance, which will not fail to relieve the monotonies of school life. The comfort of the scholars has been carefully studied, and as it now stands, the conveniences of the college are equal to those of any similar establishment in the country. The windows and halls are so arranged throughout the entire building as to give thorough ventilation, thus promoting the health of the pupils. The parlors, reception rooms, dining rooms, class rooms, laboratory, mineral specimens, and curiosity room, library, art studio, chapel hall, literary society hall, and the other numerous departments have been re-papered, painted and scoured, and are admirably adapted for the purposes to which applied. The bed chambers for boarding scholars are models in their way, and are fully equal to the sleeping apartments of the first-class hotels of the country. They are large, airy, clean, well ventilated and neatly furnished. The applications for scholarships during the coming season from abroad have been quite numerous, while the number of day scholars promises to be much larger than that of any preceding term. Under the management of Rev. Dr. Pershing and his excellent faculty, the success of the College has been great, and it now deservedly occupies the highest rank amongst the places for female education in the country. Parents or guardians having young ladies to educate, and who are desirous that while their minds will be stored with practical and useful knowledge, their physical and moral training will not be neglected, should carefully examine into the claims of our Pittsburgh Female College.

A Novel American Time Piece.

We were shown on Saturday last at the well known and popular jewelry house of James R. Reed & Co., No. 68 Fifth street, an innovation in American watches. It is a selfwinding watch, elegantly cased and of most superior workmanship. On the end of the pendant, or the ring through which the chain or guard of a watch is passed, is the winding apparatus. By turning or "thumbing" this the watch is wound, and lower on the left side is a small spring which permits the hands to be turned. The winding arrangement is guarded so that there can be no danger of turning the wrong way. The improvement is the first ever manufactured in America and is from the rapidly growing famous works of the United States Watch Company, New York. Persons desirous of examining one of the highest attainments of American mechanism should call in and see this specimen. They will likewise find a splendid assortment of foreign and American gold and silver watches for ladies and gentlemen. The general stock of jewelry, silverware, clocks, &c., kept by Messrs. Reed & Co., is of the very best quality and embraces all the latest and fashionable designs and styles. They make a specialty of diamonds, rich jewels, garnets, camelian sets, amber, jet and all the various oddities in the line. Practical watch makers, they attend carefully to all repairs, and guarantee satisfaction in every case. We commend them most heartily to the patronage of our readers.

A Splendid Piano Forte.

The Decker Brothers' patent pianofortes, for the sale of which Mr. Charles C. Mellor, No. 81 Wood street, is the sole agent in Western Pennsylvania, presents many and valuable improvements, which render this piano one of the most desirable ever introduced, and which must inevitably secure for it a very extensive sale. It is far superior to the best instruments of its form—square—produced in any other country, and possesses remarkable power and purity of tone. The improvements made by the Decker Brothers have rendered their pianos more substantial and durable, and a greater amount of real musical tone is gained, while at the same time an evenness is obtained in the entire scale to an extent wholly impossible on the old principle. We have personally examined the Decker pianos at Mr. Mellor's warerooms in this city, and we were perfectly charmed with their power, brilliancy and softness of tone, and we can sincerely recommend them to every one who may wish to procure a superior instrument of this kind.

Twining's Boarding School.

Few names are held in more deserved estimation than that of Mr. H. M. Twining, who was so long identified with the educational interests of this city. He and his excellent lady have opened a boarding and day school for young ladies at No. 2024 Mt. Vernon street, Philadelphia, the advertisement of which appears on our second page. Parents and others to whom is entrusted the important duty of educating young ladies can no where else obtain for them better facilities for mental, moral and physical training than at Mr. Twining's new academy. We feel that it is [illegible] for us to commend him to our readers, as no educator is better known or more highly appreciated in the community at large.

Jail Calendar.

Through the kindness of Warden White, the efficient jailer of Allegheny county, we are furnished with the following calendar of prisoners now in his charge awaiting trial at the September term of the Criminal Court: Larceny, 20; surety of the peace, 10; assault and battery, 5; felonious assault and battery, 2; breach of the peace, 2; desertion, 3; false pretenses, 4; horse stealing, 2; fornication and bastardy, 2; riot 2; highway robbery, 2; robbery, 2; burglary, 4; receiving stolen goods, 2; selling goods without license, 2; aiding prisoner to escape, 1; illegal liquor selling, 1; attempt to commit rape, 1; rape, 1; assault and battery with intent to commit rape, 1; bigamy, 1; violation of sepulture, 1; murder, 1.

Mercer County "Resort."

LAKE HOUSE, STONEBORO,
Mercer Co., Pa., August, 28th, 1867.

EDITORS GAZETTE: To the weary and care worn resident of the city, one, who has for months been unable to leave the heated bricks and mortar, it is very pleasant to find a summer retreat, where are combined all the comforts of home with the pure air and invigorating breezes of the country. All that we hoped for we find here. This may, probably, to most of your readers be an unknown resort. This beautiful little village of some three or four hundred inhabitants borders upon Sandy Lake, as pretty a sheet of pure water as we ever beheld. The lake is some two miles in length by one half mile in breadth. We find upon it good, comfortable and roomy boats for sailing and rowing. These are free for the use of the guests of the Hotel, to amateurs in boating. We find everything is here offered for healthful and pleasant enjoyment. The lake abounds with fish. Some of our amateur fishermen were very successful one day this week, one capturing twenty-one fine bass, another fifteen.

Sandy Lake, although but little known to us before, we find to be a place of great resort for residents of Mercer, Sharon, Franklin &c., it being only ten miles from Mercer, over a good road, and twenty-one miles from Franklin, by the Jamestown and Franklin Railroad. We find here much of the beauty and fashion of these places.

On Friday last we had a big day for the hotel and village, over five hundred persons having arrived here by special train from Franklin, Linesville, Conneautville, &c.

The beautiful scenery, the good fishing, boating, and the mineral spring, combine to make Stoneboro a great centre of attraction. The waters of the spring are highly tonic, containing iron, etc.

The hotel and furniture are entirely new, the rooms are commodious and well ventilated, "mine host" is our old friend, Major Kennedy, and his amiable lady, formerly of the hotels of Franklin, and really, Messrs. Editors, after a sojourn here of some little time, we can truly say that they "know how to keep a hotel."

Visitors have been so many since the opening of the house this season, that the proprietor has already commenced making large additions. When the improvements are all completed we will have offered to us commodious bath rooms, bowling saloon and billiard rooms, in fact all the appliances requisite for comfort and pleasure.

We are about equal distance between Jamestown, on the Pittsburgh and Erie Railroad, and Franklin, on the new Jamestown and Franklin Railroad, but recently opened between these two points. Of this road we would remark that we consider it one of the smoothest running and best managed roads that we have found. The officers of the road are attentive and obliging, and we found it a pleasure to ride over it. This we find to be the better way for reaching the oil country. Leaving the Pittsburgh and Erie road at Jamestown, and traveling over this road forty-two miles, we are at Franklin.

We fear that we have spun our letter too long. We would merely add, in closing, that although we find everything here to add to our comfort, we also find that the charges are moderate indeed, and this, to your humble correspondent, is a matter of some importance.

G. F.

Across the Ocean.

Persons contemplating a trip across the ocean cannot be too careful in making selection of the "good and safe steamer" on which he is to entrust his life. All is not gold that glitters, and humbuggery exists in the transportation business as well as in others, and parties in an inland city, such as our own, are frequently badgered into securing passage on steamers which cannot find trade where their character and accommodations are better known. Of one line we are prepared from actual knowledge to speak highly, and to commend in no halfway terms to our readers, and that is the "Inman," for which William Bingham, Jr., of this city is the agent. Its affairs are admirably managed, its steamers safe and first class, and its accommodations and conveniences for passengers are unexcelled. Steamers leave twice a week, every Saturday and Wednesday, carrying the United States mails. Tickets are sold to and from Ireland, England, Scotland, France and Germany.

Notice to the Bar.

The members of the bar of Allegheny county were reminded, in the Orphans' Court, Saturday, a full bench being present, that J. Charles Dicken was not a member of the bar, in such a way that they will likely remember the fact. An attorney presented a petition, in which there was an error. The Court, discovering the error, called the gentleman's attention to it, who, in the way of an apology, and in reply to the Court, stated that the paper had been drawn up by Dicken. The Court remarked that the attention of the Attorney was called to the fact that J. Charles Dicken was not a member of that bar, and that hereafter no papers drawn up by him as an attorney, and presented by a member of the bar, to enable him to transact business, would be entertained by the Court, if the facts were known. Mr. D. had better migrate to some other district where he is not so well appreciated.

The Primary Meetings

Held on Saturday were very largely attended, and in some districts much interest was manifested. We have not returns full enough to base any calculation regarding the respective chances of Messrs. Bigham and Errett, the candidates for State Senator, and much less to predict how the vote will stand for the representatives. Mr. Errett developed great strength, and his friends feel sanguine of his success. His well-known political integrity, high character in private life, and his unyielding opposition to railroad monopolies have been strong cards in his favor, and may prove winning ones in the Convention. Mr. Bigham's friends, however, are equally sanguine of his success, and doubtless a close fight will result. A large number of new candidates have taken the field for nomination to the House, and the contest will be quite spirited.

Dangerous Obstruction.

The pile of cobble stones on Seventh street, between Grant and Smithfield streets, is a dangerous obstruction, and should be removed. The Relief Engine narrowly escaped being wrecked, on Saturday night, while running to the fire. The Captain of the company was driving the team down Seventh street at a rapid rate, and, owing to the darkness, was unable to see the obstruction, which was only missed by the horses themselves voluntarily turning out of the way, which they did so suddenly as to almost capsize the steamer. On Friday night, we are informed, a buggy was turned over by this obstruction, and dragged a considerable distance, but fortunately those in it escaped injury. The pile of stones is over four feet in height, and is almost in the centre of the street. Their removal may not only prevent the injury of some one, but may save the city from a large expense.

Criminal Court.

The September term of the Court of Quarter Sessions commences to-day, with Judge Stowe on the bench. Assistant District Attorney Riddell has been busy for some ten days past in the preparation of bills, and has the business in such a state of forwardness that the Grand Jury will be enabled to proceed with their duties at once. There are quite a number of cases on the calendar of the June term undisposed of, among others the Goldrich homicide and the O'Neill libel cases, which we presume will be taken up during the first weeks of the term.

New Hardware House.—The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement in another column of the firm of Lindsay, Sterrit & Euwer, manufacturers and importers of hardware, cutlery, &c., No. 537 Liberty street, corner of Wayne. This is a new firm, composed of energetic and enterprising young business gentlemen, who will devote their best endeavors to the successful carrying on of the trade. Their stock is entirely new, and embraces all the articles manufactured and kept in such establishments, and their prices will be found very reasonable and inducing. We bespeak for this firm a full share of public patronage, and earnestly commend them to our readers.

Slight Fire.—The fire department were thrown into a general commotion last night shortly after twelve o'clock by an alarm of fire from box six, corner of Penn street and Cecil alley, and on proceeding to the place it was discovered that a shed or out house in the rear of Mr. Ringwalt's dwelling was on fire, which was soon extinguished. The shed contained a quantity of straw, and had evidently been set on fire, as it was disconnected from all the surrounding buildings. No damage was done beyond the burning of the shed above referred to.

Removed.—Mr. H. Smith, fashionable merchant tailor, has removed into his elegant new store, No. 98 Wylie street, and has just opened a large new stock of choice fall goods, embracing cloths, cassimeres, vestings and overcoatings, together with a large assortment of gents' furnishing goods. Mr. Smith, at his new store, will be pleased to see his old customers and will continue to please all with well made and neat fitting and fashionable garments.

Assault and Battery.—Martin Mooney made information before Alderman Strain, Saturday, against William H. Harrison, a colored man, charging him with assault and battery. He alleged that the accused, without any provocation, attacked him with a fire shovel and struck him on the head, knocking him down. The parties reside in Hayti, in the Seventh ward. Harrison was arrested and held for a hearing.

Throttled Him.—Frederick [illegible] Wise appeared before Alderman [illegible] Thomas, on Saturday, and made information against John [illegible] for assault and battery. The prosecutor alleges that the defendant caught him by the throat and tried to choke him, and also struck him with a chair. A hearing was had on Saturday evening, which resulted in the defendant being held to bail for his appearance at Court.

Coroner's Inquest.—The Coroner's jury impanneled to investigate the manner and causes by which Andrew Drefeller came to his death, will meet at the Allegheny Mayor's office this evening, at seven o'clock. The deceased was killed on the Western Pennsylvania Railroad, Thursday, the 22d ult., an account of which was published in the GAZETTE of the following day.

Base Ball.—A match game of base ball between the "Pioneer" and "Excelsior" clubs of this city for the junior championship, was played at Oakland Saturday. The game was very interesting and closely contested. Five innings were played, at the close of which the score stood: "Pioneer," 31; "Excelsior," 30. H. Preston, of the "Dauntless," officiated as umpire.

The Original French Document Arrived.

"Je certifie que la premiere medaille en or pour les pianos Americains a ete donnee a l'unanimite a Mr. Steinway, par le Jury de l'Exposition Internationale. Class 10, premiere sur la liste.

Le President:
MELINET.
GEORGES KASTNER, AMBROISE THOMAS,
ED. HANSLICK, F. A. GEVAERT."
L. SCHIEDMAYER.

TRANSLATION.

I certify that the First Gold Medal for American Pianos has been unanimously awarded to Messrs. Steinway by the Jury of the International Exposition.

First on the list in Class X.

MELINET,
President of International Jury.
GEORGES KASTNER, AMBROISE THOMAS, ED. HANSLICK, F. A. GEVAERT, L. SCHIEDMAYER, } Members of the International Jury.

The original certificate, together with "the original catalogue of awards," in which the name of STEINWAY & SONS is recorded first on the list, can be seen at the Steinway's warerooms, New York, and fac simile copies of the same at H. Kleber & Bro's, the sole agents, warerooms 122 Wood street.

The above document settles the question finally and conclusively as to which are the best pianos of the world, and which, as such, received the first prize over all others at the Paris Exposition. In view of this decision, which is a fatal blow to the aspirations and pretentions of the contending Boston house, (Chickering & Sons,) the attempt of the latter to cover up their defeat and divert public attention from the only recognized authorities by ostentatiously parading a monarchial toy conferred outside of the Exposition, appears as puerile as it is ineffectual. Although the great popularity and fame of the Steinways is not the result of medals (or honorable or dishonorable "crosses,") but of the acknowledged superiority of their Piano Fortes, yet it is gratifying to know that the highest musical authorities of Europe unite with us in according to them the first and highest place on the list of the piano manufacturers of the world.

Poor Farm, Divided into 500 Lots, at Auction.

The Directors of the Poor, in accordance with a recent act of Assembly, and resolution of Councils of the city of Allegheny, will sell by auction, on the premises, on Wednesday, September 4th, at 10 o'clock, a large portion of said farm, which has been surveyed and laid out in convenient building and garden lots, varying from 24 feet front and 130 feet in depth, to 8 acres each. This delightful property is eligibly situated on the Butler plankroad and Western Pennsylvania Railroad, by which there are seven trains daily, all of which stop at these premises, fare five cents.

A splendid opportunity is here presented to the mechanic, manufacturer and capitalist to secure lucrative investments and desirable homes.

The ground is the richest in the market, is on the city lines, and combines city and country advantages in an eminent degree. Plans of the lots will be furnished to the public on Monday. Terms—one-third cash, balance in three years.

Special public attention is invited to this extraordinary large and attractive sale.

Hazard Powder.

With pleasure we direct attention to the advertisement of Mr. A. Kirk, to be found on another page, calling attention to the excellent gun and blasting powder of every description which he has for sale, manufactured by the Hazard Powder Company, of Connecticut. To persons acquainted with powder the mere mention of this name is a sufficient guarantee of its quality. It has been before the public for over forty years, and every year adds to its well established reputation.

Mr. Kirk has experienced great opposition in commencing the powder business, and we hope consumers and dealers in powder will reward his exertions by a liberal share of patronage, especially when they remember that he offers a far superior article to that formerly sold, and at a reduction of from two to three dollars per keg. In order to accommodate the trade on this side of the river, he has opened an office for the reception of orders at No. 102 Second street, Pittsburgh. All orders left there before 12 M. will be filled same day. All orders before 4:30 P. M. will be filled next morning.

To be, or not to be—that's the question.

Whether to suffer with mental anguish,
Feverish lips, cracking pains, dyspeptic agonies,
and nameless bodily suffering;
Or whether, with sudden dash,
Sieze a bottle of PLANTATION BITTERS,
And, as Gunther swears, be myself a man Again.
Gunther said my eyes were sallow,
My visage haggard, my breath tremendous bad—
My disposition troublesome—in fact,
He gently hinted I was fast becoming
Quite a nuisance.
Four bottles now beneath my vest have Disappeared,
My food has relish, my appetite is keen,
My step elastic, my mind brilliant, and
Nine pounds, avoirdupois, is added to my Weight.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—A delightful toilet article—superior to Cologne and at half the price. MWF:DWF

Practical and Worthy Mechanics.—Readers desirous of procuring the services of skillful and experienced Gas and Steam Fitters, can do no better than by favoring Messrs. N. S. NAPOLEON AGAIN ABASED.

It has been said that eels rather delight in being skinned, after getting used to the process. How a knowledge of this fact was arrived at we do not know, nor, indeed, have we heard anybody satisfactorily attempt to explain it. The wriggling of the fish, while undergoing the operation, would seem to indicate that the sensation experienced was neither soothing nor agreeable. NAPOLEON III. has clearly learned to take humiliations with greater composure. Habit has enabled him to conceal emotions of displeasure, even if he finds the discipline repulsive. He has learned to take the most unpleasant incidents with undisturbed serenity. He has become nearly as accustomed to humiliations as to his daily meat.

Some years ago, when his prestige was higher than it now is, he drew FRANCIS JOSEPH, of Austria, into what he made appear to be an excellent and profitable enterprise against Mexico. FRANCIS JOSEPH was induced to risk his brother, MAXIMILIAN, some troops, and a little cash in the speculation. NAPOLEON put in a good many troops, a large amount of money, and his reputation for statesmanship, which was colossal. The partnership seemed about as fair as any arrangement could be between robbers. To the world at large NAPOLEON disclaimed ambitious aspirations or expectations. He was only resorting to a summary process for collecting old debts. Having made his levy, however, he concluded to bid off the property and keep it. For a time there was an outward appearance of success. So far as organized resistance on the part of the Mexicans was concerned, he found comparatively small difficulty in overpowering it; but their chronic anarchy proved too much for his resources. He might as well have attempted to ferry on a raft across the universal deluge. After spending many millions he knew not how to share, leaving thousands of his best troops in unhospitable graves, he abandoned MAXIMILIAN to his deplorable fate, and withdrew.

While yet the Austrian flags were draped in mourning, for the slaughter of that chivalrous but unfortunate Prince, NAPOLEON sought an interview with FRANCIS JOSEPH, not for condolence, but to influence his hopes by the proposal of a new adventure. A meeting of the two sovereigns was arranged and accomplished. They met on Austrian territory, appeared arm in arm to the populace, and then sought seclusion and privacy. As the result of their conference, the glad but enigmatic announcement was made that the peace of Germany was secured for many years to come. How so much could come from so little was a mystery that remained to be solved. At last the fact could no longer be concealed that the object and upshot of the conference was to give vitality to the miscarried project of a South-German Confederation, under the headship of Austria. This was a pretty scheme enough for those two Emperors when they first devised it, but when such a plot spoils in launching, there is no use of expending labor or hope upon it afterwards. Like other bad eggs, its first ruin cannot be mended.

How this scheme, if consummated, could secure the peace of Germany, was not explained. To plain common sense it seems most likely to produce further debates, contentions and battles. A great people, animated by a common impulse, seek to be united under one Government, and that of their choosing. It would be natural to conclude that the way to secure peace among them would be to withdraw all hindrances to the desired union, so that in the complete gratification of a supreme wish, causes of strife should be eradicated. If, however, one stops to consider the phrase closely, and weigh it in diplomatic balances, the true meaning of it is soon solved. If Germany will only consent to be divided and discordant, France will have no need to make war upon it. Internal alienations will beget a weakness that will make it rather an object of pity than fear.

The misfortune of FRANCIS JOSEPH, as a German prince, consists in this, that the destractions of the empire are essential to the safety of his throne and dynasty. His family, many centuries ago, from ruling a petty Swiss principality, gained the Duchy of Austria and the imperial crown of Germany. Within a century and a half the Electors of Brandenburg, by superior genius, have increased in personal influence and territorial possessions, until at last they have claimed, subordinate to parliamentary forms, the leadership of the empire. The aspect is, that whatever delay may occur, all Germany will yet crystalise around Prussia, leaving FRANCIS JOSEPH and his descendants only their Sclavonic provinces.

Hardly was the fact promulgated that the two Emperors had laid a basis for the permanent peace of Germany before the cable brought information that Bavaria had positively refused to ratify or having anything to do with the proposed arrangement. So NAPOLEON again stands abased. He would like to make an essay at deciding the German problem by adding his sword to the argument; but his fears keep him back. Not daring to march in this direct way to the end he seeks, he endeavors to divide Germany against herself, and she indignantly rejects his overtures. His star has evidently paled, and is not likely to be illumined again.

THE INDIAN TROUBLES.

One need go back no farther than thirty-five years, to the administration of President JACKSON, and he will be surprised to find how imperfectly, even in the best informed circles, the structure, resources and destiny of this continent were understood. The midland regions were almost unknown, and almost no attempts had been made to explore carefully the Rocky Mountains, and the regions stretching thence to the Pacific Ocean. The presence of various Indian tribes, upon their reservations, in the respective States was felt to be an annoyance; or, to express the fact more accurately, the lands thus retained were so intrinsically rich and by the populating of the surrounding districts had become so valuable as to excite the cupidity of the whites. It was resolved, in defiance of plain and undeniable treaty stipulations, and the strongly expressed disinclination of the Indians, that the tribes should be removed out of the way, and their territories brought into market. This was done, with not a little harshness and injustice. They were taken west, and located where it was supposed they would never come in contact with the white race any more. There was a vagueness in these calculations. No precise estimates were made as to the dying out of the aborigines, or as to the progress of settlement westward by the whites, or as to the necessity that might sooner or later arise for establishing lines of travel or other forms of communication across the continent, from sea to sea. Railroads and telegraphs were not. Thoughts of them were doubtless revolving in the minds of inventors in various places; for the age had reached that advancement when these contrivances could not be delayed; and when the times are ripe for the birth of a grand improvement it is commonly seen simultaneously, though with differing degrees of clearness, by individuals widely separated from each other.

When the Indians situated east of the Mississippi were transported west of it, the event was hailed as a national achievement of pith and moment. It was thought a barrier to the spread of civilization was taken out of the way, and that the savages had been hid away where they could enjoy their native wildness unmolesting and unmolested. Alas! for the short-sightedness of statesmen. The discovery of gold in California resulted in an influx of whites which drove the Indians back from the Pacific coast. The perturbations of Europe, and the marvellous prospects of repose and security held out in the United States, soon caused settlements to the Mississippi and beyond. Later auriferous discoveries in the Rocky Mountains have sent swarming thousands thither. The whole continent has been organized into States or Territories. In what were reported a generation ago to be most inaccessible regions, towns have sprung up, blossoming with wealth, culture and refinement. The telegraph already spans the continent, and two railways have been pushed into the heart of the Indian reservations on the way to the western ocean. No wonder the Indians feel they are doomed to extermination, and are fired by desperation to what resistance they can. But they stand face to face with the inevitable, which they may combat, but cannot subdue or turn back.

General SHERMAN has expressed in his vigorous way the sense he feels of the inutility of the Commission ordered by Congress to re-locate the Indians and adjust all differences with them. He thinks the medicine not adapted to the disease; perhaps of a nature to make the distemper worse. While peaceable expedients are thus contemned, he and other commanders make large estimates of the number of troops required for a military settlement of the embroilment. In one district twenty thousand soldiers are required, and the same in another. That less will be demanded for the others does not appear. Meanwhile, the conflict seems to have commenced, and in earnest.

That the nation is not in a condition to meet easily these fresh expenditures of men and money is manifest. The wounds of the rebellion still gape. Its burdens press upon the shoulders of all the people. The taxes, national, state and local, already surpass in amount those of any other nation. This Indian war threatens to make them heavier, to create a necessity for new issues of legal tender notes or for additional concessions to capitalists, which would be likely to result in sending gold up to a considerably higher premium than it now brings. This aspect of affairs imposes a necessity for the largest circumspection on the part of General SHERMAN and his subordinates, and the highest wisdom on the part of the authorities at Washington.

Villainous Affair.

Considerable excitement prevailed at Pana, Ill., yesterday, on account of an attempted rape on a young lady by the name of Lizzie Simpson, of high respectability. She arrived in the train from the north about dark, and desired to go to her brother about two and a half miles west from there. Entirely unacquainted and alone, she was singled out by some young men employed at the depot as the subject for their intrigues. By various pretexts and arguments she was detained until twelve o'clock at night in the room of one Jas. Roberts, during which time she was grossly insulted. Returning to the ladies' room in the station house, she was prevailed upon by one of the night watchmen to take a sofa in the baggage room, where he said she could rest undisturbed until the three o'clock train arrived going west. Falling asleep on the sofa, she awoke sometime afterward and found herself in the embrace of a young would be seducer by the name of Willis Sumner, also employed as a watchman, who was using all efforts to accomplish his villainous purpose, but by vigorous efforts she relieved herself from his clutches after her garments were much torn. Her cries attracted the attention of the first watchman, named James Fleming, who came in, and under pretended offer of sympathy she was subjected to further undue familiarities on his part. She finally in great distress of mind escaped from these fellows when the morning train arrived.

The three young men were all promptly arrested the same morning, on the arrival of the brother of the young lady. Sumner was held to bail in the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, and in default of security will go to jail. The other two were brought before the City Court and fined heavily for their conduct, and will doubtless be discharged from employment. The citizens are unanimous in denouncing this outrage, and in expressing their sympathy for the lady, whose connections are numerous in this county and State, and include, among others, the distinguished Bishop Simpson. No efforts will be spared to bring the offenders to justice, and a repetition of such outrages prevented hereafter.—Chicago Tribune.

THE amount of the Washington Treasury balance of gold and currency, which we published in our telegraphic news a day or two ago, has elicited considerable attention, as it throws light on the extensive sales of gold and bonds which have taken place during the last two or three weeks. The gold balance in the Treasury, according to the statement, is $93,639,000, against $103,000,000 on the 1st instant. As the receipts from customs since July 1 have been $26,353,000, the receipts in August must have reached $13,000,000, which, added to the balance of $103,000,000, making $116,000,000 as the amount of gold that would now be in hand if none had been sold or disbursed. As the gold on hand instead of being $116,000,000 is under $94,000,000, there is a deficit of $22,000,000, which must have been most of it sold, as the interest paid out has not probably exceeded $2,000,000. The New York Post says:

"It is, however, difficult to believe that Mr. McCulloch has sold twenty millions of gold, the general impression being that the sales have not exceeded twelve or fifteen millions. The remaining five millions are perhaps to be accounted for by the gold certificates being allowed to accumulate here, and by the peculiar method in which the accounts are kept between the New York office and the Department at Washington. If fifteen millions of gold have been sold at an average of 140, the currency in the Treasury must have been increased $21,000,000.

"The currency balance on the 1st of August was seventy-two millions; since which the receipts from internal revenue have been about fourteen millions; and from the sale of gold, as estimated above, twenty-one millions; giving a total of one hundred and seven millions as the amount which would now be in the treasury after deducting the disbursements. But those disbursements have evidently been heavy, as the currency balance is very little over fifty-one millions. Hence fifty-six millions of currency must on this showing have been paid out during the first twenty-six days of the month.

"Of this aggregate of money twenty-two millions, as is computed, have been paid out for seven-thirties and for interest; twenty-five millions for compound notes, and nine millions for the government requisitions from the War Department and elsewhere."

The customs receipts of gold at New York range at from five hundred thousand to six hundred thousand dollars daily, and the sales of gold from the Treasury are about the same amount. This keeps the market for cash gold easy. The redemption of August compounds at New York is light this week—not more than a quarter of a million daily, while at Boston and Philadelphia both the amounts scarcely equal half that sum. There will be no further considerable redemptions until the October notes fall due, and it is not improbable that part of these will be made in the new 3 per cent. legal tender certificates of deposit.

THE New York Times remarks that the Japanese seem to be a hopeful people and trusting; at any rate the conjuring companies which have lately left that close-locked land seemed to have the most implicit faith in their ability to conjure much cash out of the pockets of the "outside barbarians," meaning us. Without waiting advices from the first installment which came out, or seemingly caring to hear whether they had failed or succeeded, several other troops have also girded up their gorgeous silken skirticoats and set out for Yankee land. There are now four full companies in America, and another one on the sea, besides all of whom there is a very respectable representation of fan-flourishing Japs in Ludlow street jail, on a little matter, of alleged embezzlement. If things go on at this rate we may soon hope to see the real genuine old Tycoon dancing a tight-rope, spinning tops and swallowing swords for our delectation, while a dozen or so first class Damios accompany his agile achievements with appropriate music on the national drum and two-stringed guitar.

Diamond Cut Diamond—Arrest of a Suburban Burglar—A Singular Case.

About the 15th inst., two persons appeared in Kingston, New York, and became acquainted with the fast men of that town, when they disbursed considerable funds in the procurement of liquid refreshments. After a few days of such enjoyment, this hospitable pair threw off the mask, and expressed a desire to effect burglary, where rich plunder would reward the risk and danger. The person to whom this scheme was broached was also informed by them that no doubt the safe in the office of the American Express Company would yield a handsome "pot," and they agreed to give him a share in the proceeds of a burglary provided he helped. At the same time that he consented the Kingstonian gave information of the plot to the sheriff, when every preparation was made, and a man who sleeps in the office of the Express Company was introduced, who received an offer of half the proceeds of the robbery on condition that he should be out of the way. Through him the burglars obtained an impression of the safe key, but the sheriff afterwards decided that the burglars should not have been permitted to take the impression, and they be made to return it. Accordingly, the man informed them that they must return the key and brake the safe open, remarking, "you can easily open it, and it will serve to throw suspicion away from me." The burglars returned the key at once, when the Kingston men innocently believed that no second key would be made. The night of the 20th inst. was fixed upon for the burglary, and that afternoon all of the money packages were removed from the safe by the agent who substituted two bogus packages representing over $60,000. The envelopes in reality containing almanacs and waste paper, and after dark the Sheriff placed his posse in ambush. The gang arrived at midnight and entered the building unnoticed by the officers, though the signal agreed upon—waiving a handkerchief—was given by the express employe. Suffice it to the burglars had a duplicate key, and so gained easy possession of the bogus deposits, when they compelled the expressman to go with them for a short distance, and so escaped arrest. A reward of $300 was offered by the authorities, and last night Detectives Radford and Kelso succeeded in arresting George Roberts, whom they profess to have run to earth in the most approved fashion, and will produce sufficent evidence to warrant his commital for trial.

Female Clerks.

A correspondent of the Boston Transcript makes complaint against the female clerks in that city. The correspondent says: "One day last week I went with my wife to over twenty dry goods and trimming stores to match certain colors. In a majority of cases we were treated uncivilly and sometimes with downright rudeness. The following ill treatment—as we should call it—I saw inflicted upon her by women clerks. Three pointed to another part of the store without answering a word; one snapped out 'No,' with a toss of her head; one kept on chatting with a young man and never looked to see if anybody was waiting; another chatted away even after she was plainly asked for some article, as though she did not hear; one (in a circulating library) kept on reading to a friend some funny passage, three minutes after she was spoken to; and one, on a word being said as to the quality of a ribbon, declared that 'if a dollar had been asked, it would have been all right.' Now if some of these women clerks had been young men, I should have jerked them over their counters and pulled their noses and cuffed their ears after the style of correcting saucy boys and girls thirty years ago. But as they belong to the gentler sex, myself and wife choked down our vexation and walked off in search of polite attendants in retail stores."

The Mormons in Minnesota.

At Battle Lake, which is called the most charming in Minnesota, six miles south of Otter Tail, between Battle and Clitheral Lakes, is a settlement of Jo. Smith Mormons, consisting of 18 families. They occupy 1,000 acres of choice land, all well fenced and stocked, and well cultivated. This land is an average of one mile in width, and is divided into farms extending across from side to side, each family occupying a seperate farm. The barbarous and outrageous system of polygamy is not practiced or tolerated here, be it noted to the credit of this quiet and industrious settlement, who have thus banded together and secluded themselves that they might enjoy their religion undisturbed; and they will certainly be permitted to do so so long as there is nothing in their practice to offend decency or the public taste.

Talking to the Point.

As an illustration of the pointed style of some of the preaching at the Williamantic, Ct., Camp Meeting, a correspondent of the Hartford Post gives the following: One of the preachers, Tuesday afternoon, had occasion to refer to the bad condition of the sinner and the willingness of God to forgive him, no matter how vile. Said he, "There sits brother P——, who used to be one of the meanest men in this section of the country, but the grace of God took hold of him and shook him all to pieces." A hearty "amen" was indulged in by the congregation, and the voice of the man referred to rang clear and loud above the rest.

TORTURE.

Who would endure the torture arising from Chills and Fever, when it can be easily cured?

Who would endure sleepless nights, burning fevers, and icy chills alternately, when a remedy can be obtained for a trifle?

Who would wander like an uncertain shadow, never knowing what moment they may be prostrated?

Who would be a burden to himself and a burden to his friends, who are worn out in administering to his wants?

Who would live this life of agony when the great alterative and tonic,

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS,

can be obtained at the nearest village. This long established and justly renowned medicine has never been known to fail in a single case, and none but the foolish and w[illegible] would hesitate to procure it at once, and save themselves from intense, life-long torture. Prepared after a long experience and deep study, it has received the encomiums of the most eminent physicians, as well as all classes from every other part of the country. To those who doubt its many virtues, all we say is, TRY IT and judge for yourselves.

Every day letters pour in upon us, testifying to its great efficacy in curing Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Languor, Nausea, and similar ills.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which had been advised to "let alone" on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten on my lungs. I knew that the popular mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which, if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to a discharge which I was constrained to believe was a salutary provision of Nature to get rid of some morbid condition in the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying to the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, C——.

Dr. Keyser's consultation rooms are No. 120 Penn street, from 9 A. M. until 4 P. M.

UNITED STATES COURT.

The Black Counterfeiting Case—The Defendant Convicted on Both Indictments.

In the United States District Court, Saturday forenoon at ten o'clock, the case of Robert M. Black, of Washington county, charged in two indictments with having in his possession and passing counterfeit legal tender notes, was resumed.

W. D. Moore, Esq., Assistant District Attorney, began the argument to the jury. He first sought to disabuse the minds of the jury of any false conception which might have arisen from the remarks of Mr. Linn, in his opening address for the defense. He had said that this prosecution of Robert Black was at the instance of Alexander Moffitt, in order to affect the conspiracy case pending against him in another Court. It had pleased the gentleman (Mr. Linn) to characterize Moffit as one of the most miserable and despicable of mankind, and to insinuate that he had connived at the absence of William Dawson, whose presence here the Government much desired to prosecute certain cases. This man Dawson was "one of the most miserable and despicable of mankind," and Mr. Moore repelled the idea that Moffit had procured his absence. He (Mr. Moore,) said there had been a most damnable conspiracy of counterfeiters against Moffit, simply because he had endeavored to bring to justice some of their number. But yesterday the arrest of a Government witness had been procured by them, on the oath of a disreputable woman, with a view to affect the case for the Government. The conspirators, feeling their guilt, were in trepidation, and had pursued Moffit with relentless persistency through a number of years. The torch of the incendiary had been applied in the pursuance of their conspiracy, and from a position of comparative independence Moffit had been made a poor man, the result of his efforts to bring to justice counterfeiters. He (Mr. Moore) would say to the conspirators, and they were in the court room, and saw and heard him, that they might well tremble, for it was as certain as fate that they would sooner or later take the present place of the object of their solicitude, Robt. Black, the defendant. Passing to the evidence in the case, Mr. Moore closely analyzed it, and argued that a clear case of guilt had been made out, if witnesses for the government were believed. Black, it had been shown, had not only been a "shover," but the inference was reasonable that he was a "wholesale dealer" in counterfeit money. At the close of his address Mr. Moore made some allusion to Isaac Thompson, stating that he had furnished the means for the defense, and was connected with the conspiracy to which reference had been made. He it was, too, Mr. M. believed, who had procured the absence of Dawson.

Thos. M. Marshall, Esq., followed on behalf of the defense. Referring to the "outside allusions" of Mr. Moore, he said that Isaac Thompson, who had been assailed, stood as fair for honesty in the community where he resided as Mr. Moore did anywhere on God's footstool. Mr. Marshall said he knew whereof he spoke, and that the jury knew him. Alexander Moffit, to sustain whose character Mr. Moore had said the Government would not deign to call fifty witnesses which they could have produced, was a "liar, a perjurer and a counterfeiter," and, as in the case of Isaac Thompson, Mr. Marshall said he knew whereof he spoke, and was responsible for what he said. Moffit was indicted for the infamous offense of conspiracy, and because Robert Black had appeared as a witness against him in that case, he had been prosecuted, Moffit himself arresting him, and he was now on trial, the Government assisting "Moffit and his thieves" to procure a conviction.

[It seemed to us, in listening to their scourging remarks concerning Moffit and Thompson, that it might have been proper for the counsel, Messrs. Moore and Marshall, to have spoken whereof they knew on the witness stand. Mr. Moore, however, led off, gave the provocation, and Mr. Marshall saw fit not to interrupt him, or make any objection, thinking that by replying in the same style of "argument" he could best help the case for the defense. These are days of degeneration.—Rep.]

In conclusion Mr. Marshall said the stream of public justice had been polluted, in this case, by Alex. Moffit, than whom a greater scoundrel did not exist on the broad acres of the Commonwealth. He had followed the defendant Black for months, and by his money was endeavoring to procure his conviction, whilst the counsel, (Mr. Marshall,) believed, as he believed in his existence, that he was innocent.

R. B. Carnahan, the District Attorney, closed the argument to the jury. Alluding to what had been said about the present being a counter prosecution to that for conspiracy against Moffit in the Quarter Sessions, Mr. Carnahan, after giving a history of the case, (substantially as given in the GAZETTE a few days since,) said the present trial had nothing whatever to do with that in the other court. It was brought up for consideration by him, in pursuance of his duty as a Government officer. He was not the representative of Moffit, who was not considered in the case. Mr. Carnahan referred to this outside matter only to relieve the jury from any obscurity concerning it which might have been impressed upon them. The character of Moffit had been attacked only in argument, for there was no evidence bearing upon it, except by a single witness, who said that "of late" his character for veracity had been questioned, doubtless arising from his connection with this case. In answer to what had been said against Moffit, Mr. C. had but to remark that he had official knowledge that Moffit had occupied a respectable position in society, had been largely engaged in the carriage manufacturing business at Brownsville, and that he had been reduced to comparative poverty by his establishment being destroyed by fire. In reviewing the evidence, the District Attorney said that without having any feeling in the case, other than to discharge his duty, he must say that if the evidence adduced by the Government was believed, the jury must convict the defendant on both indictments. Twelve witnesses had been called who had testified to facts which made the case clear, free from doubt; even witnesses for the defense had given corroborative testimony of the main facts, although called to contradict statements made by the witnesses they corroborated.

The Court delivered a brief and impartial charge to the jury, stating that the outside matters introduced could not be considered, except only so far as they affected the credibility of the witnesses.

The jury retired at half past one o'clock, when the Court took a recess for half an hour. Upon re-assembling the jury appeared in the Court and rendered their verdict—guilty on both indictments. The defendant was ordered into the custody of the Marshal.

The Court then adjourned until to-day at eleven o'clock, when arguments in cases in bankruptcy will be heard.

Tuesday will be devoted to hearing the argument on the motion for a new trial in the case of Alfred Myers, of Petroleum Centre, and on Wednesday the motion in the case of William Johnston, of Altoona, will be disposed of.

E. G. AREHAN, Postmaster.

A Misapprehension.

In an item in the Gazette a few days since concerning the Moffit-Thompson conspiracy and Black counterfeiting cases, we stated that William Dawson, in the informations he made, previous to his disappearance, concerning parties engaged in the counterfeiting business, had implicated Mr. Samuel Thompson, of Brownsville. We so understood, but it seems this is not the case, as we are assured by Mr. Thompson himself. This statement is made with a view of correcting the erroneous impression which may have been conveyed by the article referred to. We would also state, in this connection, that it is exceedingly uncharitable for any one to attribute peculiar significance to the fact that Mr. Thompson was one of the persons who became bail for Robert Black's appearance to answer indictments for counterfeiting.

Centennial Celebration.

The Middletown, Pennsylvania, Journal of yesterday, says:

The Centennial Celebration to come off in the Lutheran Church, next week, promises to be a grand and imposing affair. The Church edifice which will then be one hundred years old, is being decorated and fixed up in the most tasty and fascinating manner, while the excellent Choir, connected with the Church, under the management of their able leader, Abner Croll, Esq., is preparing and arranging some choice Anthems for the occasion, so that some of the finest and most delightful music ever discoursed in this place may be expected. We also understand that there will be some twenty-five ministers present, from abroad. A Centennial celebration will be something new here, and the house will doubtless be crowded to its utmost capacity.

Seriously Injured.

James Battels, a laborer, employed at the new building in course of erection on Canal street, met with an accident Thursday, by which he received serious if not fatal injuries. Mr. B. had crossed the street for the purpose of getting a drink of water, and was returning, when he was struck by the shaft of a wagon which was passing at a rapid rate, with such force as to knock him down, the wagon passing over him, literally crushing the shoulder blade, and it is feared inflicting severe internal injuries. The unfortunate man was conveyed to Passavant's Hospital, where his injuries were properly attended to.

Fire Alarm Telegraph.—The report of the Superintendent of the Fire Alarm Telegraph, for the month of August, shows that during the month there were seven alarms, six alarms of fire and one police alarm; the number of strokes on the tower bell in striking alarms, 148; in striking the hours, 240. Loss of property, $520.

YOUNG LADIES, BEWARE of the injurious effects of Face Powders and Washes. All such remedies close up the pores of the skin, and in a short time destroy the complexion. If you would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance, use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA. ap15:MWF

HELMBOLD'S
Concentrated Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Eradicates ERUPTIVE and ULCERATIVE DISEASES of the THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect safety.

TWO TABLE SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE.

FOR SALE—The best Farm in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., containing about 260 acres, situated six miles south of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Bolivar Station. The improvements are a large hued log house, with nine rooms, a good cellar; a frame bank barn, 40x70, with the best of stabling. Two apple and one peach orchard. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation; the fencing is all No. 1; the soil is good, and is well watered; about 200 acres cleared, the remainder in good white oak timber. This property is offered at the low price of fifty dollars per acre. Possession immediately.

Also, a valuable Garden Farm, containing 89 acres, situated in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the Youghiogheny river, and near Elrod's Station, on the Connellsville Railroad, about nineteen miles from the city. The improvements are a two-story brick house with six rooms, hall running through the house, with cellar; a No. 1 barn and other outbuildings. Abundance of the best fruits, of all varieties. Churches, Schools and Mills very convenient. Persons wishing to engage in gardening would do well to call and purchase quickly.

Also, a Farm of 140 acres, situated in West Wheatfield township, Indiana county, Pa., about 3½ miles from the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The improvements are—First, a two-story frame house, with five rooms, a large frame barn, 45x70, corn crib, carriage house, a good stone spring house and wood house. Second—a two-story log house, a large frame barn, 40x70, a 1½ story frame spring house, and other outbuildings. The fencing is all good, abundance of limestone on the place, and coal but a short distance. Convenient to Churches, Schools, Mills, &c. I am authorized to sell this property very cheap and on easy terms.

Also, An excellent Farm of 160 acres, of which 95 acres are under cultivation, situate in Christian county, Illinois. Improvements—a new frame dwelling containing 5 rooms; about 400 choice fruit trees, good fencing, &c. It lies within 2 miles of the Illinois Central R. R.; will be sold on reasonable terms. City property taken in part exchange if desired.

Also, a Farm of 312 acres in Penn township, Westmoreland county, 220 acres cleared and under cultivation, 92 acres of first-rate white oak and other timber, 2 dwelling houses, 1 of them 2 stories, the other 1 story, with a tenant house, with a first-rate Steam Sawmill in good running order; young orchard of grafted fruit. The land is rolling; every acre is tillable, with limestone soil and subsoil, with never failing springs; within one hundred rods of the Penna. Central Railroad; 28 miles east of Pittsburgh, and three miles west of Greensburg. This farm is pleasantly and eligibly situated in a good neighborhood; every acre is underlaid with coal. The title is good.

Also, one of the best farms in Young township, Indiana county, Pa., four miles from Western Pennsylvania Railroad, at Livermore Station, containing 300 acres—225 cleared and under No. 1 fencing, the residue in good timber. The improvements are two frame dwellings, containing eight rooms each; a large bank barn, 50 by 80 feet, and other necessary outbuildings, in good order. Five acres of orchard of choice varieties of fruit; four foot vein of coal, (now open,) under all the land, and abundance of limestone. It is a good thriving neighborhood, convenient to churches, schools, mills, &c., which I am authorized to sell very low and on good terms.

Also, a Farm of 82 acres in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., near the line of the Pittsburgh & Connellsville Railroad. Improvements are a log house, weather-boarded; frame bank barn, orchard of fifty bearing apple trees, &c. This property will be sold cheap.

Also, 40 acres in Derry township, Westmoreland county, Pa., within four miles of Blairsville, and three miles of two stations on the Pa. R. R. The improvements are, a new frame dwelling house and outbuilding; a new steam saw and grist mill, with two run of burrs, two bolting cloths, and all the necessary fixtures, and a young orchard of choice fruit trees. The whole tract is underlaid with a six foot vein of coal, now opened, and an abundance of limestone. This property will be sold very low, if applied for soon.

RETRIBUTION.

A Wicked Murderess Launched into Eternity—Review of Her Crime—Particulars of Her Execution.

In cold blood, at New Market, N. J., last February, the young wife of Dr. Wallace Correill was cut to pieces with a butcher knife in the hand of her domestic, Bridget Durgan. The murderess, to hide her guilt, set fire to the bed into which she had cast the corpse and fled from the house. But the fire refusing to conceal the dread deed, smouldered and went out, and the perpetration of the murder was discovered. Bridget was tried and, with difficulty, convicted. She was sentenced to undergo the severest sentence of the law, and on Friday last expiated her offence on the scaffold. The New York Times' reporter tells of the execution as follows:

THE ARRANGEMENTS

For the execution were made by Sheriff Clarkson to the best of his ability, undoubtedly, but they could not well have been worse. We reached New Brunswick early in the morning, and found the place fairly alive with bustle and confusion. Everybody was wide awake, and looked full of importance as though some new dignity were added to them or their town. Men, women and children swarmed the streets. "Best clothes" were evident and conspicuous. As we neared the jail we were informed that the militia were guarding the dread inclosure. We saw the militia. They were boys and men in red or white shirts and black trowsers, walking up and down with muskets on their shoulders, shouting, hurrahing and having a gay old pic-nic (without provisions) all to themselves, and greatly to the edification of the country people who gazed at them with awe. We passed them safely, and joined a wretched rabble at the jail gate, produced our warrant and went in. We found ourselves immediately in the midst of a crowd of a thousand rough and jostling men, and were it not that the gallows stood before us, could have thought that the gathering was for the purpose of witnessing a race or a prize fight. The men were literally packed together. The officials, with clubs, acted quite as rudely as the spectators, and many a private row and scrimmage were indulged in while the wretched woman was mumbling her prayers in the murderer's cell.

In a corner of the yard the gallows was placed so as to afford an admirable view to the women who peered from the roof of the jail, or looked from its windows; to the men who crowded the roof of an adjacent barn; to others who overloaded a platform until it broke beneath their weight, and to a few of the many hundreds of profane, indecent and ungentlemanly persons who pushed and hauled, and swore and fought.

The gallows was an upright jerker, the same that the negro Williams was hanged on a short time ago. It was very generally known that Bridget's last night was an uncomfortable one. It was variously declared that ghosts, whisky and excitement, religion, turnkeys and reporters, kept her awake until one o'clock, at which time she fell asleep and remained quiet until four in the morning. From that hour her time was divided between refreshment, dressing and praying until the Sheriff announced that it was time to proceed with the execution of the sentence of the law.

Some difficulty had been experienced in procuring an executioner. A few weeks since, Isaacs, now dignified as Deputy Sheriff, was applied to, but, with a chivalry that did unexpected honor to his "amateur" heart, he replied that he hung men, not women, and respectfully declined. However this may be, on Thursday, the well known detective, Mr. Isaac Edsall, whose services in his line of duty are well known and highly appreciated by the profession, was astonished at receiving the following

DISPATCH FROM THE SHERIFF:

NEW BRUNSWICK, Aug. 20, 1867.

I. W. Edsall:

We are disappointed in executioner. Come on at once. We will pay your terms.

S. F. RANDOLPH,
For the Sheriff.

Not being exactly in that line, Mr. Edsall took no notice of it, and Sheriff Clarkson did the best he could.

THE EXECUTION

took place at 10:15. Precisely at ten the Sheriff saw that everything was in readiness, and permitted Bridget to say farewell to the people in the jail. At 10:10 the procession appeared in the jail yard, when ensued a scene such as we hope never again to witness. The crowd surged to and fro. Every man pushed for position. Oaths and profane ejaculations of the most outrageous nature, mingled with cries and calls, such as one may hear at a circus. For five minutes we stood in the midst of these brutes, and wondered of what stuff and refuse they were made.

Bridget was dressed in a plain brown suit, and wore a white collar and white gloves. The priests, the Sheriff, and any number of ex-Sheriffs accompanied her, but she needed none of them, she was as steady as a ship's mast, and quite as devoid of emotion.

Arrived at the scaffold, the noose was hitched to the pull rope, and for a few moments "religious services" were indulged in, while an official fought the crowd in the yard, and the unfeeling spectators shouted "Down in front," "Hats off in front," "Down on your hunkies," "Oh, give us little fellows a chance," and "What'll you bet she won't die game!" If the prisoner had been a woman she couldn't have "died game." The insulting expressions of the great crushing crowd before her, their eager desire to be near her, the confusion of the moment, and the great fate before her, would have unsettled the mind of any person; but she never moved a muscle, nor do we believe she cared the value of a half-penny.

"Don't let them Protestants know what I say," said Bridget. The cap was drawn, the signal given and the rope severed. Up she went with a jerk, and the knot twisted to the back of her neck as her huge body fell to the length of the noose with a heavy thud. The strain was tremendous and her half pinioned arms flew up. Officious officials seized her hands and pulled them down, holding them while the contortions of her muscular frame afforded ample gratification to the noisy "gentlemen" in front.

After hanging awhile and turning slowly about, Bridget died, her pulse and heart ceasing together. In thirty minutes she was lowered into the coffin, and the cap was about to be removed when the Priest interposed to prevent it, it having been Bridget's request that her face should not be seen. The Sheriff, however, insisted and disclosed her pale, bloodless features to the people who gathered to look. Her neck was not broken; she died slowly of strangulation, and Isaacs stood near her, a spectator.

Of what was subsequently done but little need be said. After the usual formalities the body was given to her friends and buried in consecrated ground.

She left full confessions in which she acknowledged that she committed the murder to make way with her mistress because, as she said, the Doctor once got mad and remarked that he wished Mrs. Corriell was out of the way. I made myself think from this remark that the Doctor liked me, and did really think that he wanted to get her out of the way, and this preyed upon my mind and gave me so much uneasiness that I really thought I must kill her.

Execution of Chase, the Murderer of Mrs. McDonald—He Dies Protesting his Innocence—At the Scaffold—A Revolting Scene.

It will be remembered that on the night of the 19th of February last, says the Clarion Banner, from which we extract the following report in full, a fiendish murder was committed at Rockdale Mills, Jefferson county, by two men named Winton (Chase) and Graves, on the person of Mrs. McDonald. The murder was discovered on the next evening, and efforts were made to capture the perpetrators. Charles Chase alias Winton, was arrested soon after at Brookwayville, and committed to the Brookville jail to stand his trial. Graves was never heard of afterwards.

The murder created an intense excitement, and the public determination seemed to be that Chase should be severely punished for the awful deed. He was tried at the last May term before Judge Campbell, and convicted of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to be hanged. Efforts were made by his counsel to obtain a commutation of his sentence, but without avail, and he was left to prepare for his awful fate.

The prisoner, who all along manifested a stoicism or indifference entirely incompatible with his situation, evinced on Monday last, something akin to a contrite spirit. He appeared to feel at that time the Saviour of Mankind had died that his fondest hopes might be realized in eternity—and such, no doubt, was the prayer of all who witnessed this terrible death.

As indicated, Sheriff Carrier did all in his power to render the unfortunate man as comfortable as circumstances would allow. To this end he permitted all who had a thought for his welfare to visit, pray with, and read to him.

On reaching Brookville, even at the early hour of nine in the morning, we were surprised to see such crowds of people gathered in the town. They could not certainly expect to witness the execution—but we suppose were drawn together merely through curiosity and to mingle in the excitement of the day. One fact we especially noted, to wit: that there were fully as many women as men.

The day being very pleasant afforded all who desired a chance to gather and talk over the affair, and express their various opinions as to his guilt, and to expatiate on his probable bearing when on the scaffold.

At half past twelve o'clock we entered the jail yard, where we found a large number of people assembled and watching anxiously for the appearance of the condemned man. From information we had received, it was evident that Chase had lost all his bravado, and was considerably broken down in spirit.

It appears that he had been visited a few days ago by a Sister of Mercy from St. Mary's; and her conversation had fully awakened him to a sense of his duty. Thus moved, he requested that Rev. Father Koch, of Clarion, be sent for, who went immediately to offer spiritual consolation to the dying man. The prisoner, up to within a week of his execution, had talked bravely and uttered very many foolish expressions; but as the time drew near when he expected to die, and feeling the certainty of his fate, gave way to the feeling naturally aroused by the terrible ordeal through which he was to pass. His father, mother, sisters and brother were with him, and to some extent their presence served to change the current of his thoughts.

The scaffold was built in the usual style, save that the trigger was arranged at the back of the platform instead of at the foot of the stairs, and the drop instead of being in the centre, was arranged in the front of the platform.

The jail-yard is about sixty feet either way, with high forbidding walls, and seemed a fitting place for a murderer to take his last view of time.

All was silent in the crowd—all were looking anxiously for the appearance of the prisoner, and at one o'clock, as he came forth, accompanied by the Sheriff and his spiritual adviser, the silence seemed painful.

Chase was neatly dressed and presented a genteel appearance. He sat down under the drop with an easy grace, and while he chewed a huge quid of tobacco, surveyed the crowd with much complacency. He then, in a clear voice, addressed the crowd for near three-quarters of an hour, in which he stated that until within a few days he had not thought of making any preparation to meet his doom, but having been aroused to a sense of his lost condition, he had been laboring to secure an interest in heaven. He hoped that the proceeds arising from the publication of his life, prepared by J. Onslow, Esq., would be given to his mother. He hoped that hereafter, should any be so unfortunate as himself, that a more kindly feeling would be manifested toward them, and regarded himself in the light of a persecuted man. He asserted that he was innocent of the murder of Mrs. McDonald, and hoped that God might damn him if he had ever committed the crime or had had anything to do with it." He hoped that all would pray for him.

Here he knelt down beside the priest, who offered a fervent prayer in his behalf, and on arising kissed the crucifix. It was a sad moment, but during all this trying ordeal he never shed a tear nor manifested the least sign of fear or nervousness. Looking around among the crowd below him, he called a number by name to come forward and bid him farewell. To each and all he gave a shake of the hand and a kiss. While they were moved to tears, he was as calm and unmoved as ever. The Sheriff was the last to bid him good bye, and we know that officer's heart was too full for utterance, yet he controlled his feelings and conducted himself in the discharge of his unpleasant duty with fortitude.

At this juncture, Chase requested the Sheriff to permit him to take a view his coffin. This was complied with, and he was conducted into the hall where a magnificent coffin had been placed. He examined it minutely and then returned to the scaffold.

The Sheriff then prepared him for the last awful act, the launch into eternity, and stepping back, Charles Chase was left alone with his God, just ready to be ushered before His bar. In another moment the spring was touched and the body fell! but oh, horror, the knot slipped and the condemned man was thrown to the earth, partially hanged. A thrill of horror filled the hearts of all present, when the Sheriff and his assistants sprang down, and picking him up carried him upon the gallows and seated him upon a chair, and as he opened his eyes and looked up into the kindly face of Sheriff Carrier he said: "This is hard."

The noose was re-adjusted and Chase was placed in position, and after a moment's delay the trigger was touched and the guilty man had paid the fearful penalty of his crime.

He died hard, the knot having slipped from the ear to the back of his neck, thus strangling him. The body was permitted to hang about twenty-five minutes, when it was pronounced dead and was cut down and placed in the coffin and handed over to his relations, who started at once for Phillipsburg, where they reside.

The unfortunate accident which occurred is one which is not unlikely to happen, and no blame can be attached to Sheriff Carrier, who had used every possible precaution to prevent any mistakes.

So ends the awful tragedy. Charles Chase was tried, convicted and hanged for a crime of which he says he is innocent. That is between him and his God. The evidence pointed to him and whether guilty or not he has gone to answer for deeds done in the body; and even if in this he is clear, yet if report tells truth, there are crimes clinging to his skirts that would demand his punishment. While we pity, we cannot but condemn the man who steeps his hands in the blood of his fellow being, and feel that for such a deed he must give his life for the one he has wilfully taken.

Fearful Leap.—Henry Maringa, a Canadian by birth, who has been boarding at Gray's Hotel, on Pasture Lane, Allegheny, jumped from the third story window to the sidewalk, Saturday morning, fracturing his right thigh bone, and injuring himself internally. He had for several days been laboring under an attack of mania potu, and during the temporary absence of his attendants made the fearful leap. He was removed to Mercy Hospital, and is under the care of Dr. Donnelly. He is a painter, and has been employed at the car shops of the Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company, at the outer depot, Allegheny.

Assault.—Daniel Donahue made information before Alderman Strain, Saturday, against James Drum, charging him with assault. The parties had a difficulty some time since for which an information was made before Alderman Taylor, and on Saturday morning, as the prosecutor alleges, the accused attacked him with two paving stones, with which he threatened to knock his brains out. A warrant was issued.

Surety of the Peace.—Charles Sharp made information against William Johnson, on Saturday, for surety of the peace, alleging that he threatened to blow his brains out with a shot gun. Johnson was arrested and brought before Alderman Strain, who held him in the sum of three hundred dollars for his appearance at Court.

Held For Trial.—Henry McGovern, charged on oath of John Henry with assault and battery, was held on Saturday, by Alderman Strain, before whom the information was made, in the sum of $500 for his appearance at Court. The prosecutor alleges that McGovern struck him on the mouth and knocked him down.

District Court.—At Saturday's session of the District Court a new trial list was ordered to be made out to be taken up on the fifth Monday of the present month. All cases for the new list must be entered on or before Monday, the ninth instant.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, August 31, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 141¾; Eighty-one bonds, 111¾; Five Twenties, 1862, 114¼; Five Twenties, 1864 109½; Five Twenties, 1865, 110¾; 5-20 Consols, 108¾; Seven Thirties, 107¼@107¾; Ten Forties, 102¾. Stocks—Erie Railroad, 70½; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 93¾; Chicago and Rock Island, 103¾; Chicago and Northwestern, 46¾; Chicago and Northwestern preferred, 70¾; Fort Wayne Railroad, 105¼; Michigan Southern Railroad, 83¾; New York Central, 105¾; Reading, 104¾; Western Union Telegraph Co., 43; Ohio and Mississippi Certificates, 27¾.

Gold opened lower to-day, and fluctuated between 144¾ and 144¼. The news from Europe is looked upon as very favorable, and the war cloud there has passed away. The quotations for American securities have in consequence improved, and orders have reached New York for their purchase here. Exchange on Europe is lower and dull, and the gold market will sympathize with the depression in exchange. Government securities are strong, but dealings are light, and a decline is looked for the moment the large amounts of money on call are diminished. The stock market is higher, but business is dull, and transactions insignificant. The local money market is improving.

The Philadelphia Ledger, of Friday, says: The money market rules unusually quiet, and rates are unchanged—the supply being abundant from the inactivity of all commercial business. On Government loans at call, among the large operators, transactions are reported as low as 4 per cent., with exceptional operations at 5. The banks continue to discount all the prime business paper offered them at the legal rate. Such notes as find their way to the street, either from long time, or other cause, is discounted at rates varying from 7 to 9 per cent. on good, miscellaneous [illegible] The produce business has not yet [illegible] demand for capital west has [illegible] effect on the money market. [illegible] Sub-treasury balance at New York [illegible] day of three and a half millions, which created some surprise, it has since been explained, was due to the transferring of the gathering to several day's compounds from that city to Washington, in one large volume. There was nothing in it prejudicial to continued ease in the money market.

—The Chicago Tribune, of Saturday, says: The general features of the money market continue about the same as those noted daily during the past week. For discounts the demand is limited, and in some quarters we hear complaints of a scarcity of first class paper. There is a very active demand for currency to move the crops, any the market runs quite close. Most of the banks received remittances from the east to-day, enabling them to meet all drafts without being pinched. The country banks continue to check with liberality, and balances are balances are low. Some of the Milwaukee banks were in the field for currency to-day. Business on the street is reviving, but not rapidly. There are no indications that trade this fall will equal that of war times, when every description of business was more or less inflated with speculation; but the prospects for a good healthy, conservative trade are excellent. The influx of country buyers is considerable, but their purchases are individually confined to sorting up for immediate wants. The receipts of grain are falling off—as field threshing in this latitude is about over, but in a week or two we may confidently look for largely increased receipts from the line of the Northwestern road.

The Advance in Cattle Freights—The Alexander Contracts.

We stated yesterday that several of the Western railroads had purchased jointly of John T. Alexander his contract with the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, and that the "cattle disputes" were now ended—the several companies agreeing upon a tariff, to go into operation on the 26th inst.

The nature and extent of this contract is not definitely known here, but it was intended to have been a paying one to Mr. Alexander, if one-half the stories about it be true.

It is said that the Pennsylvania Central Company contracted with Mr. A. to bring fifty car loads of cattle from a point in Illinois to New York City for $125 per car. This was from $47 to $52 per car less than the New York Central and Erie were receiving for the same service. This enabled Mr. A. to buy cattle at the West at $1 per head more, and then make $1 per head when other dealers lost money.

Another report is that by his contract with the Pennsylvania Central he was to ship over that road, weekly 1000 head of cattle, for which he was to pay the current traffic prices, with a percentage off. When he was short of funds the Treasurer of the company would furnish it, and at the close of the current year he was to receive from the company, as a bonus for his services, the sum of $100,000. This looks to be a big amount, but had he succeeded the company could well have paid it to him, for he was coining money for them.

But he did not succeed. Cattle dealers reported his operations to the controlling powers of the Erie, and they immediately reduced their fare on that road, to one-half, and the New York Central followed it.

This war of low fare has been carried on for months, but it has now ceased to exist. The railroads bought Mr. Alexander off, and it is said that they pay him $160,000 for his contract with the Pennsylvania Central Railroad; others say he received $150,000. It is not important to know whether they paid him this sum or not. The matter has been amicably adjusted, the railroad people are satisfied, the drovers are pleased, and the stockholders of the respective railroads ought to be, for it was a losing game with them with the prospect of a small dividend this year.—Albany Journal, August 24th.

Buffalo Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BUFFALO, August 31.—Receipts—Wheat, 79,000 bu. Corn, extra 65,000 bu. Oats, 205,000 bu. Flour, 4,000 bbls. Shipments—Wheat, 45,000 bu. Corn, 80,000 bu. Oats, 88,000 bu. Freights closed firm; 16c for Corn; 13c for Oats; 8½@9c to New York. Flour is steady and unchanged. Wheat is dull, the views of buyers and sellers being wide apart; $1,90 asked, $1,90 bid for No. 2, Chicago. Corn opened dull at $1,03 and closed firm at about $1,05; sales early in the day of 40,000 No. 2, western at $1,03, and in the afternoon 40,000 bu. do. at $1,04@1,04½. Oats, quiet; sales of 33,000 bu. western at 56c. and 11,000 bu. do. at 52c. Rye—there is none here. Barley, new crop not in the market. Mess Pork, Lard and high wines unchanged.

Cincinnati Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, August 31.—Flour firm but unchanged. Wheat is held more firmly; No. 1 red $2,15; No. 2 $2,10. Corn is very scarce and in demand, at $1,05 on the spot, and $1 to be delivered next week. Oats steady, at 55@56c. Rye dull at $1,20@1,25. Barley unchanged. Cotton dull, at 24c for middling. Whisky irregular; holders ask 34@35c in bond, with 32c offered. Mess Pork and Lard quiet and unchanged. Bulk meats and Bacon firmer, with prices tending upward; large sales of bacon shoulders at 12½c, now held at 13; sides in demand at 15¾@16c for clear rib, but held at ¼c higher. Butter and Cheese unchanged and quiet. Groceries steady. Gold 141@141¼, buying.

New York Dry Goods Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, August 31.—As usual on Saturday the market was less animated, but still a fair business transacted. Prices were generally very firm for all classes of staple and fancy Cottons. Woolens are also in good request and fine fabrics in novel designs sell freely at good prices, while inferior qualities still drag and go slow.

Chicago Cattle Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, August 31.—Beef Cattle dull at $6,50@6,75 for first class steers. Sheep dull and nominal at $4@4,50 for best mutton. Hogs moderately active at $6@6,90 for common to choice.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, August 31, 1867.

The general markets have been moderately active during the past week, that is, there has been a fair volume of business in the aggregate; the transactions, however, have been mainly of a local character, and round lot sales have been the exception rather than the general rule. The uncertainty in regard to values has a tendency, more than anything else, to retard business, and no material improvement in trade can reasonably be expected until there is a more confident feeling manifested on the part of operators. The impression still prevails that some of the leading articles, including Flour and Grain, will and must go lower, and, as a consequence, the policy of dealers is to keep down stocks as much as possible.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet and unchanged; round lots of prime Penna. and Ohio Red may be quoted at $2,20@2,25, and small lots at $2,12@2,15. Corn is firm and in fair demand; sales of 1000 bush Ear, to arrive, at $1; 1400 bushels shelled on track, at $1,02; and 1600 bush prime do on private terms—supposed to be between $1,07 and $1,10. Oats continue to arrive very freely, but prices are without quotable change; sale of 3000 bushels, to arrive, at 45; 66 bags on spot, at 55; and 200 bushels to the trade, at 50c—delivered. Rye—sale of 1600 bushels to arrive, at $1,15; and 2 car loads on spot, at $1,20. No sales of Barley reported; we continue to quote nominally at 90c for Spring, and $1@1,10 for Fall.

FLOUR—The market continues dull and neglected, and with a very light demand, prices are weak but unchanged. We continue to quote at $10@10,50 for Spring; $10,75@11,25 for Winter, and $13@14 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is quiet and unchanged at $7,75 to $8, in store.

PROVISIONS—There is a steady jobbing demand for Bacon, and we can report regular sales at 12¼@12½c for Shoulders; 14½@15½c for Ribbed and Clear Sides, and 21@21½c for Sugar Cured. Lard is dull but firm at 13¼@13½c, in tierces and barrels, and 13¾@14c, in kgs. Mess Pork is still quoted at $24@24,50.

BUTTER—There is a continued good demand for prime fresh pail and firkin Butter, but common packed is very dull and unsaleable at any price. The former may be quoted at 24@25c.

EGGS—The demand is improving, and fresh packed have still further advanced, and we now quote at 15@16c.

CHEESE—Is quiet and unchanged, with regular sales reported at 12½@15c, according to quality.

GREEN APPLES—Continue very dull, with a supply largely in excess of the demand; sales at $2,00@3,50 per barrel, according to quality.

POTATOES—Prime Jersey Sweets may be quoted at $6 to $6,25 per bbl.

HAY—Is dull but unchanged—sales from from country wagons at $12 to $18 per ton, according to quality.

OIL—Lard Oil is firm but unchanged but unchanged—manufacturers still quote at 85c for No. 2, and $1,05 for No. 1.

SEEDS—Sales of Timothy at $2,50. Flaxseed is wanted, but prices are irregular. No movement whatever in Clover.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, August 31, 1866.

CRUDE—The market was considerably excited to-day, under the influence of the foreign news, but the extreme views of holders completely checked operations—not a single sale reported. Spot oil, which a couple of days ago could have been bought without much difficulty, at 10c, was held to-day at 11½@12c, and the same figures will apply to "first water," as well as the "last four months." Late last evening there was a sale for all 1867, seller's option, at 11c, but to-day, as we have already stated, there were no sellers for that delivery, under 11½@12c. This advance is just about as sudden and unexpected as the one which preceded it, but as to whether it will go still higher, or even be maintained, is a matter which time alone will develop. Private telegrams from Oil City to-day quote at $2,50 per bbl, which is an advance of over fifty cents per barrel.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was also considerably excited to-day, and compared with Friday, prices have still further advanced. Sales of 1000 bbls spot, at 30c; 2000 for September, in two lots of 1000 each, at 31c; 500 for October, buyer's option, at 32c; 500 spot, at 30, and 1500, 600 each for October, November and December, at 33½c—late last evening there was a sale of 500 bbls for August, at 29c. As will be seen by the above sales, an advance of from one to one a half cents per gallon has been established, and the tendency at the close was for still higher figures. The eastern markets were reported firm and active.

—Since the above was put in type, we have a sale of 1,000 bbls reported at 11½c, seller's option, for balance of year.

ARRIVALS—The arrivals of oil during the week—mainly by rail—were as follows:

RIVER NEWS.

The Louisville Courier, of Friday, says: In reference to the earnings of coalboat or towboat pilots, a friend informs us that our estimate the other day was too high. We had two estimates, one the coalboat pilots made for themselves, which is $500, and the other was our own suggesion, makidg it $1,000. We are the advocate and friend of the steamboatmen, and if the barge-towing line holds sway there will be not a quarter as many pilots wanted, and the few left should command good pay. Their trips then will be few and far between, and like some Pittsburgh pilots, they had better hire themselves by the year, at $4,500.

Ezra Porter was loading at Portland on Thursday for New Orleans, as was also the R. C. Gray at Louisville for Cairo and Memphis. These are both Pittsburgh boats.

Since the 1st of January, 1867, there have been seventy-six steamboat accidents on the Western and Southern rivers. Of these one was by grounding, nineteen by fire, six by explosion, and fifty by sinking. Of the sunken boats, sixteen were raised and are now running; three of the exploded boats and one of the burnt were repaired, and are now engaged in their usual traffic, leaving a total loss of fifty-six steamers.

The Greenback, Government boat, has arrived at Wheeling, for the purpose of removing the sunken coalboat opposite Wilson, Dunlevy & Co.'s boat yard, North Wheeling. The boat has remained an obstruction to navigation for upwards of two years, and has been the cause of two or three disasters. At the time it was sunk it was in tow by the Bengal Tiger, and was run into by the steamer Pickett. Afterward, the Oil City was capsized by running upon the wreck; and next, this summer, a flat laden with stone was sunk by it.

The Dubuque Herald states that negotiations are on foot for the consolidation of the Atlantic, Mississippi and Northwestern Union Packet Companies into a grand line from St. Paul to New Orleans, passengers to change boats at St. Louis. Upon this the Madison Journal says: This would be a grand scheme, and we don't know of any man who who could better carry it on successfully than Captain Davidson, who would control the line.

Freight rates from St. Louis to New Orleans have been advanced as follows: Ten cents per barrel on flour, five cents per hundred on pound freight. Way freights were increased twenty cents per barrel on flour, and ten cents per hundred on pound freight, except to Vicksburgh and Natchez, which are the same as to New Orleans.

The St. Louis Democrat, of Wednesday, contains the following personal items: Mr. Dave Harkins, late of the Clara Dolsen, is now second clerk of the Continental. Captan Ira N. Mallis, of the Harry Johnson, is transferred to the command of the Rob Roy. Capt. Fry Lee has taken command of the Harry Johnson, Quincy packet. He is one of the orignal and oldest officers of the Keokuk Packet Company, and was on the Hannibal City, &c.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, of Friday says: The decision of the merchants against adopting the new bill of lading was the principal topic of conversion among river men yesterday afternoon. The C. C. M. Association hold a meeting this morning, to take such action as may be deemed proper in regard to the matter.

There was a good deal of feeling shown yesterday among merchants against the new bill of lading. Several of them on 'Change yesterday, after the report was made, talked of withdrawing freight already shipped on boats loading at the wharf, and one house, after agreeing to ship a lot on one of the boats, and having a portion of it already taken to the wharf, refused to ship, and had the freight drayed away again.

The square-bowed towboat Rochester struck a snag, at Four-mile, and sunk some time during Wednesday night. She is lying in the Ohio chute, and her boiler decks are covered with water. She had several flats in tow, and was coming down.

A St. Louis telegram, under date of Thursday, says: There is, along the Illinois, a large amount of freight unmoved for want of steamboats. The lowest water in that stream below Peoria is two feet—ample for numerous boats that might be procured and sent up with barges in tow.

The depth of water on Treetop Bar, above Peoria, is fifteen inches. The Nightingale has entered the St. Louis and Vicksburg trade, to leave Saturday. John Greenough, formerly of Cincinnati, is in the office of the Lade Grace. The St. Louis and New Orleans Barge Line has carried, this year, more freight than all the other carriers in the same trade combined and with only one-fourth the amount of loss.

Cincinnati and Louisville are engaged in a squabble as to which city has the best right to the Tennessee river trade. The merchants of the latter place recently appropriated $15,000 for a line of boats, but Porkopolis has seen that and gone five better, which so far has not been called. St. Louis may have something to say upon the matter when the proper time comes. We are not going to be bluffed off in that way.

We extract the following items from the Cincinnati Commercial, of Friday: Capt. W. B. Peirsel and Captain Charley Harton have returned from the Rocky mountains. The W. A. Caldwell will extend her trip to Wheeling this time, and will be here on time to leave next Friday. The Silver Spray goes on the ways to-day. The Darling leaves the Eureka docks to-day. The Argosy and Victor No. 4 will leave the Marine Ways next week. The Minnie, Capt. Bell, arrived from above yesterday, destined for Attakapas. She was formerly in the packet trade between Ironton and Guyandotte, and sold for $2,250. The Henry Logan takes the place of the Minnie in her old trade. Capt. Wm. Keys, an old engineer and pioneer commander, died in this city a few days since. He commanded the Commerce and Medoc in old times. Captain James S. Wise has returned from his eastern tour. He says Captain John N. Shunk will arrive here next week.

MEDICAL.

CONSUMPTION!

It would take a man a lifetime to read the treatises that have been written upon this important subject, and if a sick man were to attempt it he would make himself worse by the reading, and die before he got half through. The symptoms of the disease are, hacking cough, expectoration of matter or pus, pain in one or both lungs, chilliness, burning in the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, exhausting day or night sweats, hectic fever, wasting of flesh or marasmus, sometimes expectoration of blood. These are the usual outward symptoms, apparent not only to the observing physician, but to the patient's friends. There are, however, more important symptoms than these, which are only made manifest by auscultation and percussion, terms which mean, in a medical sense, thumping and listening and they are employed outwardly in order to ascertain what is going on inside of the cavity of the chest. The signs of symptoms elicited in this way are almost surely demonstrate the true and exact condition of the respiratory organs. A perfect auscultator can not fail in ascertaining whether the Lungs are acting naturally or not. Hence it is the best method of examining the lungs. Their actual condition once discovered, the appropriate treatment is more rapidly arrived at, and every diseased part more completely under the influence of appropriate remedies. We have long been of the opinion that consumption or decay, or wasting of the bodily strength, was dependent on a depraved state of the blood, which carries, in its course, tuberculous matter, and deposits it in the lungs, or elsewhere in the body, just as calculi or stone is deposited in the bladder, a small particle of which attracts other particles, until it becomes of such offense to the natural functions as to bring on inflammatory action, which action, if it could, would carry it out of the system, and which could have been easily done in the beginning of such disease. DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP is a complete and perfect cure in the forming stage of lung disease. It acts on the very principle we have stated above, by enabling the securing or carrying off organs to do a double share of work. Waste and repair are easily comprehended, if the worn out material be carried off, and renewing material a proper character, the ... must be health and ease, the contrary of sickness and dis-ease. In many cases of consumption which have become settled, Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup fails to cure, although it will do good in nearly all. He prepares a medicine called LUNG CURE or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE, which is a great tonic, and strengthens and restores the parts to be renewed, while it dissolves and carries out from the body those particles of worn out or extraneous matter, which only tend to clog or destroy it, by hindering the renewing material being deposited in proper place.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

Statement of George Ford, carpenter, of No. 16 Sampson street, Allegheny City:

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there a called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER, and seeing his advertisement in the newspaper I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper lobe of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I could gradually feel myself getting stronger, and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by Dr. Keyser was a medicine called LUNG CURE, which I took in connection with the other treatment.

GEORGE FORD

PITTSBURGH, March 30, 1867.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

STATEMENT OF JOHN G. WIGHAM, OF TURTLE CREEK, ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

I was discharged from the United States army January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough and fell away in strength and flesh and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood and, afterwards, to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DOCTOR KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under Dr. Keyser's medicines from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunk in away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment and medicines.

JOHN G. WIGHAM,
Turtle Creek.

PITTSBURGH, April 11th, 1867.

A case of five years' standing cured by DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP:

DR. KEYSER:—My wife has been afflicted with a cough and difficulty of breathing for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case I procured some of your PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP. I bought the first time a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine my. If to a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

WM. WILSON,
Alderman, Fifth Ward.

Our son, JAMES PAINTER, some three years of age was afflicted with consumption of the lungs, for which he was discharged from the army. He was examined by four army physicians, who all agreed that he must die with the disease. We brought him to Dr. KEYSER, 140 Wood street, (now 120 Penn street,) who, after sounding his lungs, commenced to treat him, and cured him sound and well. He is now well and has been so for the past three years. Others afflicted in like manner can likewise be cured.

JAMES PAINTER,
MARY ANN PAINTER.

Temperanceville, Sept. 5th, 1866.
